SEE CONTINUED G. O. P. CONTROL OF CONGRESS

Republicans to Be Returned
But Majority Less is Prediction.

HOT BATTLES CERTAIN

Notable Campaign Closed
With Both Parties
Confident.

New York, Nov. 6.—The country stood on the brink of a national election today with every surface indication pointing to continued control of Congress by the Republicans for another two years—although by greatly reduced majorities.

Nothing short of a political miracle can take control of the senate away from the Republicans. Even the Democrats admit this although they hope to reduce slightly the present republican majority of 24.

There is, in the opinion of most unbiased political observers, a possibility that the house of representatives will be taken away from the Republicans tomorrow, but it is a possibility of so pale a hue that even the Democrats refrain from predicting it.

Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic national committee, contented himself today with a final prediction that the "Democratic victory will be greater and more widespread than previously thought," but he generously refrained from predicting control of either house.

John T. Adams, chairman of the Republican national committee predicted a "Normal Republican Majority" of around 40 seats in the house.

A new congress of 435 members will be chosen tomorrow from all states. Thirty-seven senators in 34 states also will be elected. The states electing governors are Alabama, Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, New Mexico, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Capture of control of the next house is the avowed objective of the Democratic organizations or, failing this, material reduction of the present Republican majority of 165. The house now has 296 Republicans, 130 Democrats and one Socialist, with eight seats vacant. A turnover of more than 80 seats is required for loss of the next house by the Republicans.

The senate now has 59 Republicans, one Republican-Progressive and 36 Democrats, with 17 Republican and 15 Democratic seats in the next congress at issue Tuesday. Democratic leaders have said that only a miracle would change the political complexion of the next senate at this election.

Many Keen Contests.

The keen race between Governor Nathan L. Miller, who is seeking reelection on the Republican ticket, and former Governor Alfred E. Smith, his Democratic opponent, overshadows all other contests in the November elections in the Empire state from the point of popular interest.

Interest in Indiana is centered in the senatorial race between former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, Republican, and former Governor Samuel Ralston, Democrat. Mr. Beveridge, a follower of Colonel Roosevelt in 1912, defeated Senator Harry New, close friend of the president, in the primaries last spring.

In the seventh Minnesota district Representative Volstead, author of the prohibition enforcement code, is opposed by Rev. O. J. Kvale, endorsed by the Democratic and Farmer-Labor parties.

Missouri is the scene of a bitter fight between Senator James A. Reed, foe of the Wilson administration, and R. R. Brewster, Republican. Reed has declared he favors modifying the Volstead law. Both candidates have denounced the Ku Klux Klan.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin is opposed by Jessie Hopper, Democrat, as an independent candidate. Victor Berger, twice denied his seat in congress because of his alleged radical views, is running again on the Socialist ticket in the Fifth district.

In North Dakota, Lynn J. Frazier, recently recalled as governor, is running on the Nonpartisan ticket for senator, while N. A. Nestos, who succeeded Frazier as governor, is a candidate for the regular gubernatorial election.

Smith W. Brookhart, Republican, and Clyde L. Herring, Democrat, closed the Iowa senatorial campaign today. Their hard-fought battle and the $22,000,000 soldiers' bonus referendum are outstanding points in the state election.

COAL CONFISCATED

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 6.—Headed by policemen, firemen, councilmen, school directors and Burgess P. B. Dempsey, several thousand citizens of Oliphant borough, five miles north of here, marched on the Delaware and Hudson railroad and confiscated four cars of coal to supply churches and schools that have been without fuel for weeks.

AGED COLORED WOMAN RUN DOWN BY MACHINE DIES OF INJURIES

George Pillsbury, Driver of Car Which Strikes Mrs. Hulda Irvin, Sunday Morning, Declares Accident Unavoidable—Hoid Coroner's Inquest.

Mrs. Hulda Irvin, 73, Columbus Pike, died at Washington hospital at 11:30 o'clock Sunday night from injuries sustained when she was struck by an automobile driven by George Pillsbury, East Third Street, in front of the Zion Baptist Church on East Main Street at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Death was due to concussion of the brain and shock which resulted from serious injuries she received in the accident. At the hospital it was determined that she had a fractured right leg above the knee, deep lacerations of the left leg as deep as the bone and an injured right arm, in addition to a blow on the forehead.

After the accident Pillsbury was taken to Police Headquarters by Patrolman Fred Jones and was later released on his recognizance to appear in Police Court, next Monday, November 13. No charges have been filed against him, pending a coroner's inquest which will be held Thursday morning at nine o'clock in the Court House. In the absence of County Coroner R. L. Haines, Justice of the Peace J. E. Jones will conduct the hearing.

Mrs. Irvin was on her way to the services at Zion Baptist Church when the accident occurred and was in the act of crossing from the north to the south side of the street. Pillsbury was driving east on Main Street, and the right fender of the machine struck the woman, knocking her down. He stopped and assisted in taking her to Washington Hospital, nearby, where attention was given her by Dr. H. R. Hawkins.

Pillsbury was accompanied by John Geger of this city, at the time of the accident, and the former was driving. He said Monday that he was not driving faster than 20 miles an hour, and that the aged woman became confused, resulting in the accident. According to Pillsbury, the woman stepped out in the middle of the street behind a west bound automobile, and hesitated in the car tracks. He declared that he believed she was going to stop to permit him to pass, so that he did not slow up, but that instead she began to run across the intervening space to the curb on the south side. Pillsbury and Geger declared that the former then turned the machine to the left in an attempt to avoid hitting the woman but the right fender struck her. The car stopped within two car lengths.

Although Mrs. Irvin was conscious when she was picked up she later lapsed into unconsciousness and never recovered. She was born in Lexington, Ky., and was married to Jonas Irvin, July 22, 1891, her husband preceding her in death 12 years. Mrs. Irvin was a member of Zion Baptist Church having joined under the pastorate of the Rev. J. R. Bowles. She had been making her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craig of the Columbus Pike, and besides her daughter leaves two nieces, Mrs. Maggie Richardson of Cincinnati and Mrs. Addie James, of Los Angeles, and a granddaughter Olivia Craig of this city. The time of the funeral has not been set.

PURCHASE FEEDERS ON WESTERN RANGES

Columbus, Nov. 6.—Purchasing agents for Ohio live stock men left for their second feeder purchasing trip on the western ranges. They had orders for 90 carloads when they started. The men who are doing the purchasing are Scott O'Day and Harry G. Beale, both well known cattle feeders of Madison county.

The trip follows a similar one made by O'Day last month which resulted in the importation of 28 carloads of feeder stock directly from Colorado. These cattle have been distributed in Ohio.

Reports received from those getting the first shipments of these feeders indicate that they have secured a more uniform lot of cattle at less cost than the same quality of stock would have cost at terminal markets. The purchasing is being done on a cooperative plan fostered by the Ohio Farm bureau federation and the Association of Live Stock Shippers.

GIRL FOUND UNCONSCIOUS.

Cincinnati, Nov. 6.—Pretty, twenty and naked save for a gauze vest, silk stockings, tan oxford and an expensive cloak, a woman was picked up on the roadside six miles south of Covington, Ky., last night, and taken to the jail there in an unconscious condition. There were a few superficial cuts on her face and chin, leading the police to believe she was thrown from an automobile, but her chief trouble, they said, was moonshine whiskey. The girl was unable to talk and is held for identification.

U. S. PREPARING FOR NEAR EAST MEETING FIGHT

American "Observers" at Lausanne to Fight
Proposals

OPPOSE NEW TREATY

Flagrant "Jokers" in Agreement Object of Attack
By This Country.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The United States government is preparing for a battle at the forthcoming Near East Conference, it was learned officially today.

Despite the limited nature of American participation the "observers" selected by President Harding will go to Lausanne with definite instructions to fight certain proposals which this government expects the allied powers to make.

American opposition will be directed primarily against the retention in the new treaty with Turkey of the more flagrant of the "Jokers" in the repudiated treaty of Sevres, by which it is charged, gross discriminations have been practiced against American interests in the Near East.

The most objectionable of these, perhaps, is the provision for an inter-allied financial commission having absolute control over Turkish finances, revenues, public utilities, and in fact all phases of financial and economic activity.

Although the treaty of Sevres has never been ratified, this commission has actually been in operation for many months to the sorrow of American business interests operating in the regions affected. A hint of the attitude of this government already has been given the allied powers by Secretary of State Hughes in his note bearing upon the Lausanne conference. In this note, the secretary expressed the interest of the United States in the maintenance of the freedom of the straits, the protection of American lives, property and treaty rights, and the protection of religious and racial minorities.

CITIZENS ORGANIZE TO STOP ALLEGED BUYING OF VOTES

Pike County Aroused Over
Practice Said Going
On.

Chillicothe, Nov. 6.—Charged with attempting to buy votes of absent voters, L. B. Eyer, Pike County, Deputy Auditor and Constable Ernest Bowdle, Waverly, were arraigned in municipal court here today. They waived preliminary hearing and were bound over to the Ross county grand jury.

Both men were released on $1,000 bonds each Eyer came to Chillicothe today and gave himself up to the authorities. Bowdle was arrested Sunday.

WAVERTY, O., NOV. 6.—A citizens' protective committee was organized here to stop alleged vote buying.

Former Judge A. Z. Blair of Portsmouth, who occupied the limelight several years ago in the cleanup of the Adams county vote-buying frauds, was sent for and at a meeting with the committee agreed to take charge. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of five Pike county men on charges of attempting to purchase the votes of absentee Pike county voters in Ross and Scioto counties. Two of the warrants were issued Friday at Portsmouth and three of them were issued Saturday at Chillicothe. Ernest Dowdle, said to be Waverly's town constable, was arrested on one of the warrants issued at Chillicothe.

The other two warrants issued at Chillicothe are for L. B. Eyer, deputy county auditor of Pike county, and "John Doe," whose real name is unknown. The warrants issued at Portsmouth are for Earl D. Parker and Arthur Herdman.

All named in the warrants are charged with having attempted to purchase the absentee votes of Pike county residents now living in Portsmouth and near Chillicothe.

ATHENS MAYOR RESIGNS

Athens, O., Nov. 6.—Mayor Thomas Roush and his son, Chief of Police Pearl Roush, resigned from their offices. C. M. Gill, president of council, became mayor. The chief of police's resignation was said to have been brought about by activities of the civil affairs committee of the chamber of commerce. The father also stepped down when his son quit.

VETERAN EDITOR DEAD

Newark, O., Nov. 6.—Joseph Newton, veteran newspaper editor and publisher, died here of pneumonia at the age of 87. He started his newspaper career at the age of 20 as editor of the Holmes County Farmer, and continued in active newspaper work up until a few years ago, when he sold his interest in the Newark Advocate, with which he became associated in 1880, and retired. He served two terms as postmaster at Newark.

HUNDRED AND FIFTY MEN ENTOMBED IN MINE FOLLOWING EXPLOSION

Accident Occurs Early Monday at Spangler, Pa.—Only few Escape Fearful Blast Which Buries Workers
Just After Entering Mine.

Spangler, Pa., Nov. 6.—One hundred and 44 men were entombed in the Neilly mine No. 1 here today, when a terrific explosion wrecked the shaft. Little hope is held out for them. The fan which supplies air to the mine was wrecked by the explosion and was out of commission for two hours.

Three hours after the explosion rescue workers reached the first group of dead. Five bodies were found in one of the workings. With the discovery of these corpses, practically all hope of the rescue of any of the others went out.

Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 6.—Between 140 and 150 miners were entombed today with almost no chance of rescue alive, following a terrific gas explosion at 7:45 o'clock in the No. 1 mine of the Reilly Coal Company at Spangler, Pa., 25 miles north of here. Word from Company officials received just before noon said the mine was still filled with gas and it was impossible to send rescue crews down below. Tons of debris block the shaft 500 feet from the entrance and the entombed men are behind this barrier with all air cut off. Lack of air alone will kill the men in a short time experts say.

Spangler is a little mining hamlet in a remote section 25 miles north of here with only one or two unreliable telephone wires working today. A hasty call was sent to Pittsburgh to the United States bureau of mines for the mine rescue cars stationed there.

Word of the disaster spread throughout Cambria County and other sections with great rapidity and telephone advices say that miners far and near are dropping their work and are headed for the Reilly mine to man relay shifts to rescue the entombed men whether they be dead or alive. The first law of mine disasters is for miners to go to the rescue of their unfortunate comrades. The explosion occurred in a shaft about 500 feet from the entrance. The men are entombed behind tons of debris and it may be days before the bodies are dug out.

A few minutes after the disaster the entrance to the mine was surrounded with hundreds of wives and children of the men down below. Women were desperate as the word was passed about that there was not one chance in a million that any of the men could be rescued alive. Some of the women had to be restrained by men folks about.

FIVE ARE KILLED IN OUTBREAK AGAINST CHRISTIANS BY TURKS

Allies Refuse Demand of Turks That They Evacuate
Constantinople—Serious Situation Is Reported
From Near East.

London, Nov. 6.—Five persons were killed during anti-Christian outbreak in Constantinople according to unconfirmed reports here from Athens. The dead consisted of one British military policeman and four Turks. Another British policeman was wounded.

Constantinople, Nov. 5.—(Via London, Nov. 6).—Following a meeting of the allied high commissioners at the office of the British high commissioner a note was sent tonight to Rafet Pasha and Hamid Bey, representatives of the Ankara government refusing the demand of the Turks that the allies evacuate the city.

Later Rafet Pasha notified the allied high commissioners that the Turks would not interfere with allied occupation of the city if the allies did not attempt to intervene in the internal affairs of Turkey.

The Turks requested that Turkish gendarmes assist in policing Constantinople as they are now patrolling Thrace.

A serious situation has been precipitated by the Turkish coup in overtaking the Constantinople administration. Word was given out the Constantinople cabinet would resign but that Sultan Mohammed VI, who was deposed by the Ankara government last week still refuses to abdicate.

PROSECUTION WOULD BLOCK MRS. HALL

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 6.—To emphasize and drive home her protestations of innocence, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall has begun an individual investigation into the murder of her husband, Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, and the beautiful choir singer, Mrs. James Mills, it was learned today.

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 7.—The prosecution in the Hall-Mills murder investigation intends to avail itself of every legal right to prevent Mrs. Frances Noel Stevens Hall, widow of the slain rector, from appearing before the grand jury, which probably will convene this week for an inquiry into the crime.

Mrs. Hall has expressed a willingness to sign a waiver of immunity in order to get her testimony before the inquirers.

The counter movement of the prosecutor to prevent her appearance will consist of an attempt, it was said, to have the grand jury deny this permission, while the authorities will decline to serve a subpoena. Without either of these, Mrs. Hall would be unable to have her statement reviewed by the grand jury.

ELECTION FRAUDS CHARGED

Toledo, Nov. 6.—Fourteen men and five women were named in warrants issued in federal district court here charging "fraud and conspiracy" against the election laws of Ohio. The warrants contain the signature of a private detective and charge those named in them of "causing to be registered a number of former voters who failed to register on the four days set aside by the law for such registration."

AUCTION SALE DATES.

Nov. 9—Dan Turner.

Nov. 16—Chas F. Ferguson.

Nov. 17—Flora Conlin, admr.

There seemed danger for a time that the radical forces would gain the upper hand. The sultan was denounced, together with monarchy, and Mustapha Kemal Pasha was acclaimed as "our president." It became necessary to throw guards of troops around the sultan's palace, within which Mohammed VI, now caliph only, is spending fearful hours.

As yet, Mohammed VI has given no evidence of conforming to the determination of the new government to rid Turkey of the high office of sultan, but the quickly developing popular movement would soon compel him, with the loss of his chiefs, to accept the inevitable.

An allied extraordinary council decided to refuse categorically the Nationalist demand for the allied military evacuation of Constantinople.

Cleveland, Nov. 6.—Ohio, the political cockpit of the nation, "modern mother of presidents and home of President Harding, was the focal point of all interest as the 1922 election contest closed. With the exception of five speeches here today by Colonel Carmi A. Thompson, Republican candidate for governor and a like tour of his home county, Lucas, by Vice Donahay, the Democratic candidate, the last word had been spoken, and the last pamphlet lauding achievement, or condemning records was in the mails.

Ohio elects this year, a governor, complete state ticket, U. S. senator and 22 congressmen. Interest has centered in the contests for the senatorship, where the veteran Democrat, Atlee Pomerene, asking a third term, is opposed by Congressman Samuel D. Fess, chairman of the important house committee of education, and until this year chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, and in the governorship with Thompson and Donahay as opponents.

Republicans are counting upon the personal popularity of President Harding in his own state to overbalance admitted discontent in labor and other circles. The tariff has been the main issue stressed by Senator Pomerene in his state-wide campaign, while Congressman Fess has advanced the record of the Congress as the greatest from a legislative standpoint in the nation's history.

Both the governorship, and senatorship are admittedly an open today with newspapers, which have conducted state wide "straw votes" predicting the success of the Democratic nominees.

In the congressional districts now represented by twenty-two Republicans, hot battles impend tomorrow at least 17. Republicans concede that Democrats will regain at least five, while the Democrats insist that they will carry fourteen or fifteen. Among the expected Democratic gains are the ninth district, where Gen. Isaac Sherwood, 87 years old, is staging a strong fight against Congressman W. W. Chalmers, and the tenth district, the home of former Governor James M. Cox, where, former Congressman Warren D. Gard is expected to defeat Congressman Roy Fitzgerald of Dayton. The eighth district, home of President Harding, is in doubt, according to reports today.

Voters will also pass tomorrow upon a proposal designed to legalize beer containing 2.75 per cent by weight, within the borders of the state. The dry forces, led by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the anti saloon league, are making a last minute drive and count upon the admittedly dry rural counties to overcome anticipated heavy wet majorities in Cleveland, Cincinnati and other urban centers.

KAISER AND BRIDE BEGIN HONEYMOON

Doorn, Holland, Nov. 6.—Within the seclusion of the former German kaiser's castle isolated by cordons of guards, who refused to allow strangers to approach, Wilhelm Hohenzollern and his new bride, the former Princess Hermine of Reuss, today began their quiet and uneventful honeymoon.

Attaches of the Hohenzollern household said that Wilhelm "was the happiest man in the world" and that he did not wish to be disturbed even by those who only wanted to extend congratulations and felicitations for a long and happy married life.

The marriage passed off according to the program drawn up by the former emperor with military preciseness. During the ceremony the black and white flag of the Hohenzollerns flew over the castle, but there was no firing of salutes nor flaring of bugles as would have been the case if the former war lord was still upon his Potsdam throne.

Only a hand full of intimate friends had dinner within the brilliantly illuminated castle while most of the others were guests of count Von Bentinck of Amerongen.

Marysville, O., Nov. 6.—Virginia Rost, 5, was killed; her sister Evelyn, 3, and her father, L. L. Rost of Allen township, were injured when a truck in which they were going to Piqua was struck by a train at Kenfield crossing. Fog was thought to have prevented Rost's seeing the oncoming train.

AGED COLORED WOMAN RUN DOWN BY MACHINE DIES OF INJURIES

George Pillsbury, Driver of Car Which Strikes Mrs.
Hulda Irvin, Sunday Morning, Declares Accident
Unavoidable—Hold Coroner's Inquest.

Mrs. Hulda Irvin, 73, Columbus Pike, died at Washington hospital at 11:30 o'clock Sunday night from injuries sustained when she was struck by an automobile driven by George Pillsbury, East Third Street, in front of the Zion Baptist Church on East Main Street at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Death was due to concussion of the brain and shock which resulted from serious injuries she received in the accident. At the hospital it was determined that she had a fractured right leg above the knee, deep lacerations of the left leg as deep as the bone and an injured right arm, in addition to a blow on the forehead.

After the accident Pillsbury was taken to Police Headquarters by Patrolman Fred Jones, and was later released on his recognizance to appear in Police Court, next Monday, November 13. No charges have been filed against him, pending a coroner's inquest which will be held Thursday morning at nine o'clock in the Court House. In the absence of County Coroner R. L. Haines, Justice of the Peace J. E. Jones will conduct the hearing.

Mrs. Irvin was on her way to the services at Zion Baptist Church when the accident occurred and was in the act of crossing from the north to the south side of the street. Pillsbury was driving east on Main Street, and the right fender of the machine struck the woman, knocking her down. He stopped and assisted in taking her to Washington Hospital, nearby, where attention was given her by Dr. H. R. Hawkins.

Pillsbury was accompanied by John Geger of this city, at the time of the accident, and the former was driving. He said Monday that he was not driving faster than 20 miles an hour, and that the aged woman became confused, resulting in the accident. According to Pillsbury, the woman stepped out in the middle of the street behind a west bound automobile, and hesitated in the car tracks. He declared that he believed she was going to stop to permit him to pass, so that he did not slow up, but that instead she began to run across the intervening space to the curb on the south side. Pillsbury and Geger declared that the former then turned the machine to the left in an attempt to avoid hitting the woman but the right fender struck her. The car stopped within two car lengths.

Although Mrs. Irvin was conscious when she was picked up she later lapsed into unconsciousness and never recovered. She was born in Lexington, Ky., and was married to Jonas Irvin, July 22, 1891 her husband preceding her in death 12 years. Mrs. Irvin was a member of Zion Baptist Church having joined under the pastorate of the Rev. J. R. Bowles. She had been making her home with her son-in-law and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craig of the Columbus Pike, and besides her daughter leaves two nieces, Mrs. Maggie Richardson of Cincinnati and Mrs. Addie James, of Los Angeles, and a granddaughter Olivia Craig of this city. The time of the funeral has not been set.

CITIZENS ORGANIZE TO STOP ALLEGED BUYING OF VOTES

Pike County Aroused Over
Practice Said Going
On.

Chillicothe, Nov. 6.—Charged with attempting to buy votes of absent voters, L. B. Eyer, Pike County, Deputy Auditor and Constable Ernest Bowdle, Waverly, were arraigned in municipal court here today. They waived preliminary hearing and were bound over to the Ross county grand jury.

Both men were released on $1,000 bonds each Eyer came to Chillicothe today and gave himself up to the authorities. Bowdle was arrested Sunday.

Waverly, O., Nov. 6.—A citizens' protective committee was organized here to stop alleged vote buying.

Former Judge A. Z. Blair of Portsmouth, who occupied the limelight several years ago in the cleanup of the Adams county vote-buying frauds, was sent for and a meeting with the committee agreed to take charge.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of five Pike county men on charges of attempting to purchase the votes of absentee Pike county voters in Ross and Scioto counties. Two of the warrants were issued Friday at Portsmouth and three of them were issued Saturday at Chillicothe. Ernest Dowdle, said to be Waverly's town constable, was arrested on one of the warrants issued at Chillicothe.

The other two warrants issued at Chillicothe are for L. B. Eyer, deputy county auditor of Pike county, and "John Doe," whose real name is unknown. The warrants issued at Portsmouth are for Earl D. Parker and Arthur Herdman.

All named in the warrants are charged with having attempted to purchase the absentee votes of Pike county residents now living in Portsmouth and near Chillicothe.

FIVE ARE KILLED IN OUTBREAK AGAINST CHRISTIANS BY TURKS

Allies Refuse Demand of Turks That They Evacuate
Constantinople—Serious Situation Is Reported
From Near East.

London, Nov. 6.—Five persons were killed during anti-Christian outbreak in Constantinople according to unconfirmed reports here from Athens. The dead consisted of one British military policeman and four Turks. Another British policeman was wounded.

Constantinople, Nov. 5.—(Via London, Nov. 6.)—Following a meeting of the allied high commissioners at the office of the British high commissioner a note was sent tonight to Rafet Pasha and Hamid Bey, representatives of the Ankara government refusing the demand of the Turks that the allies evacuate the city.

Later Rafet Pasha notified the allied high commissioners that the Turks would not interfere with allied occupation of the city if the allies did not attempt to intervene in the internal affairs of Turkey.

The Turks requested that Turkish gendarmes assist in policing Constantinople as they are now patrolling Thrace.

A serious situation has been precipitated by the Turkish coup in overtaking the Constantinople administration. Word was given out the Constantinople cabinet would resign but that Sultan Mohammed VI, who was deposed by the Ankara government last week still refuses to abdicate.

KAISER AND BRIDE BEGIN HONEYMOON

Doorn, Holland, Nov. 6.—Within the seclusion of the former German kaiser's castle isolated by cordons of guards, who refused to allow strangers to approach, Wilhelm Hohenzollern and his new bride, the former Princess Hermine of Reuss, today began their quiet and uneventful honeymoon.

Attaches of the Hohenzollern household said that Wilhelm "was the happiest man in the world" and that he did not wish to be disturbed even by those who only wanted to extend congratulations and felicitations for a long and happy married life.

The marriage passed off according to the program drawn up by the former emperor with military preciseness. During the ceremony the black and white flag of the Hohenzollerns flew over the castle, but there was no firing of salutes nor flaring of bugles such as would have been the case if the former war lord was still upon his Potsdam throne.

Only a hand full of intimate friends had dinner within the brilliantly illuminated castle while most of the others were guests of count Von Bentinck of Amerongen.

PURCHASE FEEDERS ON WESTERN RANGES

Columbus, Nov. 6.—Purchasing agents for Ohio live stock men left for their second feeder purchasing trip on the western ranges. They had orders for 90 carloads when they started. The men who are doing the purchasing are Scott O'Day and Harry G. Beale, both well known cattle feeders of Madison county.

The trip follows a similar one made by O'Day last month which resulted in the importation of 28 carloads of feeder stock directly from Colorado. These cattle have been distributed in Ohio.

Reports received from those getting the first shipments of these feeders indicate that they have secured a more uniform lot of cattle at less cost than the same quality of stock would have cost at terminal markets. The purchasing is being done on a co-operative plan fostered by the Ohio Farm bureau federation and the Association of Live Stock Shippers.

AVIATORS READY TO TRY ONCE MORE

Dayton, O., Nov. 6.—After flying three-fourths of the distance across the United States, from San Diego to Indianapolis, through storms and calm, darkness and light, aboard the monoplane T-2, Lieutenants John A. MacReady and Oakley G. Kelley related incidents of their record-breaking nonstop flight of 2,060 miles. The aviators were forced to land at Indianapolis after they had exhausted their water supply owing to a broken line. They borrowed a plane and flew to Dayton.

Bad weather hindered progress of the flight in early stages. For a time, they said, they held little hope that they would be able to get across New Mexico because weather conditions were so adverse.

"We feel fine," MacReady said, "and I would be willing to take another shot at it immediately if we were ordered by the department."

PROSECUTION WOULD BLOCK MRS. HALL

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 6.—To emphasize and drive home her protestations of innocence, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall has begun an individual investigation into the murder of her husband, Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, and the beautiful choir singer, Mrs. James Mills, it was learned today.

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 7.—The prosecution in the Hall-Mills murder investigation intends to avail itself of every legal right to prevent Mrs. Frances Noel Stevens Hall, widow of the slain rector, from appearing before the grand jury, which probably will convene this week for an inquiry into the crime.

Mrs. Hall has expressed a willingness to sign a waiver of immunity in order to get her testimony before the inquirers.

The counter movement of the prosecutor to prevent her appearance will consist of an attempt, it was said, to have the grand jury deny this permission, while the authorities will decline to serve a subpoena. Without either of these, Mrs. Hall would be unable to have her statement reviewed by the grand jury.

GIRL FOUND UNCONSCIOUS.

Cincinnati, Nov. 6.—Pretty, twenty and naked save for a gauze vest, s.k stockings, tan oxford and an expensive cloak, a woman was picked up on the roadside six miles south of Covington, Ky., last night, and taken to the jail there in an unconscious condition. There were a few superficial cuts on her face and chin, leading the police to believe she was thrown from an automobile, but her chief trouble, they said, was moonshine whiskey. The girl was unable to talk and is held for identification.

ATHENS MAYOR RESIGNS

Athens, O., Nov. 6.—Mayor Thomas Roush and his son, Chief of Police Pearl Roush, resigned from their offices, C. M. Gill, president of council, became mayor. The chief of police's resignation was said to have been brought about by activities of the civil affairs committee of the chamber of commerce. The father also stepped down when his son quit.

VETERAN EDITOR DEAD

Newark, O., Nov. 6.—Joseph Newton, veteran newspaper editor and publisher, died here of pneumonia at the age of 87. He started his newspaper career at the age of 20 as editor of the Holmes County Farmer, and continued in active newspaper work up until a few years ago, when he sold his interest in the Newark Advocate, with which he became associated in 1880, and retired. He served two terms as postmaster at Newark.

ELECTION FRAUDS CHARGED

Toledo, Nov. 6.—Fourteen men and five women were named in warrants issued in federal district court here charging "fraud and conspiracy" against the election laws of Ohio. The warrants contain the signature of a private detective and charge those named in them of "causing to be registered a number of former voters who failed to register on the four days set aside by the law for such registration."

NEW PASTOR TAKES PULPIT SUNDAY AT FRIENDS CHURCH

The Rev. J. Fersenberger, new pastor of the Friends Church, was introduced to the congregation at the rally day service held Sunday, the meeting being marked with one of the largest audiences in the history of the church.

Two hundred and forty-two people were present at the Sunday School service, the church being crowded for the preaching service later in the day. The Rev. Mr. Fersenberger brought the principal message, of the day, his subject being "Faith" bringing out that "everyone must have first faith in God, second faith in one another, and lastly faith in the church. The minister brought a strong evangelistic sermon to a large congregation in the evening, taking his text from John 3:16.

The Rev. Amos Cook, former pastor of the church, when the present church was built, and Harold McKay, secretary of the Wilmington Yearly meeting, were both present and gave short addresses.

MACHINES BADLY DAMAGED AND ONE HURT IN ACCIDENT

Both machines were badly damaged and one man injured, when the car driven by J. C. Rakestraw of three and a half miles north of Cedarville, collided with the machine driven by Grover Brickie, of near Cedarville, on the Cedarville pike, Saturday night.

Mr. Rakestraw received a deep cut over the right eye, which required several stitches to close. Mr. Brickie escaped unhurt. David Rakestraw, father of Mr. Rakestraw, who was with his son at the time of the accident was unhurt. The accident happened when neither driver could give sufficient road space to enable the other to pass, when they met on the narrow highway.

FRED TOEWS, 67, CALLED BY DEATH

Fred Toews, 67, of Old Town, township trustee, former road supervisor and well known resident of that vicinity, died at his home in that village Monday morning at 7:45 o'clock.

Mr. Toews had been in failing health since last January, and had been confined to his home for several weeks, suffering from a complication of ailments.

He was born in Germany, February 13, 1855, and had come to this country when a lad of fifteen years of age. He has been a resident of Old Town for the past 42 years.

Mr. Toews had conducted a grocery in the village since the death of his father twenty three years ago. He was for a number of years postmaster of the village, until the station was put on the rural route system. He was formerly road supervisor of the district and served as truant officer for several years.

He was affiliated with the Red Men's Lodge of this city for the past thirty six years. He was never married.

Three brothers, Robert, of Old Town, Conrad, of Springfield, and Emil of Drumright, Okla., survive.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock at the Old Town Church, with interment at the Byron cemetery.

TWO BROTHERS DIE

Norwalk, O., Nov. 4.—Jacob Swick, 60, and his brother, Isaac, 50, were found dead on their farm four miles west of Willard, this county. Jacob had hanged himself from a rope suspended from the rafters of the barn. Isaac was found lying in the corn field with his clothes partly burned from his body. He had saturated his garments with coal oil from a can which was found near the body. It is said the men were despondent.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2. and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2 1/4 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membrane, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine ginseng extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/4 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SPECTACULAR ONE MAN CAMPAIGN BEING WAGED SENATOR FRANCE OF MARYLAND

Washington, Nov. 6.—While the country has thrilled to the exploits of Brookheart in Iowa, Reed in Missouri, Beveridge in Indiana and other outstanding personalities in this campaign of 1922, here almost in the shadow of the capital there is being brought to a close today the most spectacular "one man campaign" of the season—conducted by and for Joseph Edwin France, Republican senator from Maryland.

France's position is unique among this season's candidates. It is perhaps comparable only to that of Reed in Missouri and even there the analogy fails for Reed has conducted his fight within the party lines, whereas France has campaigned squarely on his record, and his record is mostly clear outside all party lines.

He is the only senatorial candidate

WILBERFORCE

Bishop B. F. Lee left last week for Alabama to hold the Annual Conference in the Episcopal District of which he has charge. He will return about the last of December.

Dr. Frank Johnson, one of the C. N. I. Board, spent several days at the school this week.

Miss Anna O. H. Williamson motored to Dayton Monday looking after business interests connected with the Normal Department.

Mrs. Lenoria Lane of the primary work of the Normal Department, attended the sessions of the Central Ohio Teachers' Association in Columbus, Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin have taken rooms in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Starks.

Mr. Theo. Carter, Chief Executive Clerk of the C. N. I. Department, was taken very ill with pneumonia last week. He was removed from his residence last Sunday to Tawawa Hospital. He is reported to be improving and his many friends will be glad to see him back in the office at an early date.

Mr. Clifford Starks of the Automobile Department was called to the bedside of his mother in Cincinnati last week. Word is received that she passed away Friday morning. He has the sympathy of the community during his sad bereavement.

A surprise birthday party was given in honor of Miss Dorothy Everett by twelve of her classmates. The room was artistically decorated in black and orange. After playing a number of games ice cream and cake and mints were served. Those present were: Misses Thelma Gray, Ursula Moats, Myrtle Hill, Nellie Beridon, Lee Thomas, Pauline Jackson, Mildred Singer, Thelma Fields, Myrtle Hickman, Jane Joseph and Dorothy Everett. Miss Everett received many beautiful gifts.

The most elaborate affair of the season was the Halloween party given Monday evening, in Mitchell Hall by the Senior Commercial Class in honor of the Junior Commercial Class.

The reception room was artistically decorated and the large columns were a mass of beautiful autumn leaves, likewise branches were beautifully clustered in each corner of the room. The lights were covered with pumpkin shades and on the French doors and windows were cats and witches. The corn stocks at the entrance and rounded by pumpkins which bespoke every thought of Halloween.

After the welcome address to the juniors by Miss Robbie Arnold, senior president and the response by Mr. Samuel Dickerson, junior president, a number of interesting games were played.

The color scheme and Halloween idea was even carried out in the refreshments, which were green and gold ice cream, cake and corn candy. During the serving Mr. Hughes was master of ceremonies and toasts were given by President John Gregg and Prof. Charles S. Smith. Everyone felt the evening would be incomplete without a solo by Mr. C. F. Points, who sang "Smiling Through."

The other guests were Miss J. A. H. Smith, instructor in the Commercial Department, Mrs. Josephine T. Washington, Dean of Women; Mrs. W. T. Hughes and Mrs. John A. Gregg.

this year to advocate without reservation whatsoever recognition and full dealings with soviet Russia, he advocates, not light wines and beers, but the complete repeal of the 18th amendment, he was the only senator of 96 to vote against the naval limitation treaty, he has been the champion in the senate of many of the foreign groups contained in his constituency—and it is upon this totally independent and "irregular" record that he feels confident today he will be returned to Washington for another six years.

France is a "political maverick," self acknowledged and self classified. The Republican national organization in distributing speakers to aid its candidates conveniently overlooked Maryland, he opposed within his own state organization no less bitterly than in the Democratic organization of Maryland and yet with all he is conceded today a good chance of winning on Tuesday.

His opponent, William Cabell Bruce, an old line Maryland Democrat, prominent in legal and social circles, has savagely attacked his record. "Bolshevism" and "socialism" have been hurled at France's head almost daily for three months and the urbane senator from Maryland has calmly accepted the epithets.

INJURED TRAINMAN MYSTERIOUSLY HURT SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

The condition of Elmer Brewer, 35, of 413 W. Market St., Pennsylvania, Railroad brakeman, who was injured while at his work Sunday morning between Brookville and West Manchester, was reported improved at Espey Hospital, where he is a patient, Monday.

Brewer sustained a concussion of the brain, surgeons believe, and other injuries. Attending physicians are unable to say yet how serious his injuries may be, it was said at the hospital Monday, although his improved condition Monday indicated hopes for his recovery.

Brewer was a brakeman on extra freight No. 8304, in charge of Conductor J. D. Allen, of this city, while Charles Grandin, also of this city, was the engineer. The train was traveling toward this city on the Richmond division, when at Brookville, Brtwer said he was going to the rear to inspect the air brakes. When he had not appeared when the train reached West Manchester, and stopped for water, he was discovered hanging to the water tank, unconscious, his arm crooked around a projection that kept him from falling from the train.

Members of the crew were unable to explain the accident, except for the possibility that he might have been struck on the head by a bridge projection. A pool of blood on the top of the tank, led to the belief that he had partially regained consciousness after lying for some time in one position and attempted to get up, but lapsed into unconsciousness again, and would have fallen from the train had not his arm unconsciously linked around a projection that kept him from falling.

The accident happened at 4:45 o'clock, Dr. S. P. Carter, of West Manchester was called by members of the crew, and he boarded the train and accompanied the injured man as far as Alpha, attending to his injuries. At Alpha the train was met by Dr. W. A. Galloway, Pennsylvania Railroad physician, who accompanied the injured man to this city and had him taken to the Espey Hospital.

Brewer partially regained consciousness at the hospital Sunday night but was unable to give a clear account of the accident. His injuries are practically all about the head, which lead surgeons to believe there has been a concussion.

CONSCIENCE HITS TAX DOGER; HE PAYS $1,500

Brockton, Mass., Nov. 6.—City Treasurer Calvin R. Barrett was surprised when he received a certified check for $500 drawn on the Bank of Italy in San Francisco, with a request that it be added to the tax budget.

The check was sent by a man who signed "A friend" and who declared that years ago, when he was in business in Brockton, he was not taxed enough. He urged that acknowledgment be made to the bank whence the check was issued.

The right way—

To clear your skin

If your skin is red, rough, blotchy and clogged with dust and oil, don't pinch it and press it. That increases the irritation and sometimes causes infection, should the sensitive skin become bruised by the finger nails.

The use of Resinol Soap and Ointment is a very simple and pleasant way to overcome this condition. It can usually be relied upon for prompt and satisfactory results even in severe, stubborn cases.

Full directions for this treatment accompany every package of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. You will also find there detailed instructions on the care of the hair—why Resinol Soap is ideal for baby's skin—why it should be adopted for the daily bath.

this year to advocate without reservation whatsoever recognition and full dealings with soviet Russia, he advocates, not light wines and beers, but the complete repeal of the 18th amendment, he was the only senator in the senate of many of the foreign groups contained in his constituency—and it is upon this totally independent and "irregular" record that he feels confident today he will be returned to Washington for another six years.

France is a "political maverick" self acknowledged and self classified. The Republican national organization in distributing speakers to aid its candidates conveniently overlooked Maryland. He opposed within his own state organization no less bitterly than in the Democratic organization of Maryland and yet with all he is conceded today a good chance of winning on Tuesday.

His opponent William Cabell Bruce, an old line Maryland Democrat, prominent in legal and social circles, has savagely attacked his record. "Bolshevism" and "socialism" have been hurled at France's head almost daily for three months and the urbane senator from Maryland has calmly accepted the epithets.

FREED OF CHARGE

Steubenville, O., Nov. 6.—John Kaminski, 19, Avella, Pa., was acquitted by a jury in the circuit court at Wellsburg, W. Va., on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the mine war July 17 at Cliftonville, W. Va., in which Sheriff H. H. Duval and six miners were slain.

INJURED TRAINMAN MYSTERIOUSLY HURT SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

The condition of Elmer Brewer, 35, of 413 W. Market St., Pennsylvania, Railroad brakeman, who was injured while at his work Sunday morning between Brookville and West Manchester, was reported improved at Espey Hospital, where he is a patient, Monday.

Brewer sustained a concussion of the brain, surgeons believe, and other injuries. Attending physicians are unable to say yet how serious his injuries may be, it was said at the hospital Monday, although his improved condition Monday indicated hopes for his recovery.

Brewer was a brakeman on extra freight No. 8304, in charge of Conductor J. D. Allen, of this city, while Charles Grandin, also of this city, was the engineer. The train was travelling toward this city on the Richmond division, when at Brookville, Brtwer said he was going to the rear to inspect the air brakes. When he had not appeared when the train reached West Manchester, and stopped for water, he was discovered hanging to the water tank, unconscious, his arm crooked around a projection that kept him from falling from the train.

Members of the crew were unable to explain the accident, except for the possibility that he might have been struck on the head by a bridge projection. A pool of blood on the top of the tank, led to the belief that he had partially regained consciousness after lying for some time in one position and attempted to get up, but lapsed into unconsciousness again, and would have fallen from the train had not his arm unconsciously linked around a projection that kept him from falling.

The accident happened at 4:45 o'clock, Dr. S. P. Carter, of West Manchester was called by members of the crew, and he boarded the train and accompanied the injured man as far as Alpha, attending to his injuries. At Alpha the train was met by Dr. W. A. Galloway, Pennsylvania Railroad physician, who accompanied the injured man to this city and had him taken to the Espey Hospital.

Brewer partially regained consciousness at the hospital Sunday night but was unable to give a clear account of the accident. His injuries are practically all about the head, which lead surgeons to believe there has been a concussion.

CONSCIENCE HITS TAX DOGER; HE PAYS $1,500

Brookton, Mass., Nov. 6.—City Treasurer Calvin R. Barrett was surprised when he received a certified check for $500 drawn on the Bank of Italy in San Francisco, with a request that it be added to the tax budget.

The check was sent by a man who signed "A friend" and who declared that years ago, when he was in business in Brookton, he was not taxed enough. He urged that acknowledgment be made to the bank whence the check was issued.

Caught In Act; Held Cincinnati, Nov. 6.—Norman Peacock, 9, and Joseph Mascara, 11, were held by the juvenile court authorities today after being caught in act of looting a collection box in St. Peter's cathedral on Sunday. They said that they got $10 last Wednesday from the same source and came back because it was "so easy." A woman in the church saw them and called two priests who held the boys.

The wrong way The right way— To clear your skin

If your skin is red, rough, blotchy and clogged with dust and oil, don't pinch it and press it. That increases the irritation and sometimes causes infection, should the sensitive skin become bruised by the finger nails.

The use of Resinol Soap and Ointment is a very simple and pleasant way to overcome this condition. It can usually be relied upon for prompt and satisfactory results even in severe, stubborn cases.

Full directions for this treatment accompany every package of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. You will also find detailed instructions on the care of the hair—why Resinol Soap is ideal for bath's skin—why it should be adopted for the daily bath.

FESS CLOSES HIS CAMPAIGN HERE MONDAY AFTERNOON

An audience of about 400 people heard Congressman S. D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, in one of his last public appearances before the election at the City Hall Theater, Monday afternoon.

Congressman Fess, accompanied by George Little, secretary of the Republican State Campaign Committee, arrived in Xenia from Springfield at 2:35 o'clock and was received at the theater. The Chamber of Commerce Band formed prior to his arrival and staged a parade down Main Street, to the City Hall Theater.

L. T. Marshall presided as chairman of the meeting, and gave a short address, predicting the Republican victory at the polls Tuesday. Mr. Little proceeded Congressman Fess, with an address, urging Republican support.

LAMBASTES WIFE WHO LET BABY TAKE FALL

Youngstown, Ohio, Nov. 6.—Ell Mastovich was returning home from work when he saw his baby fall out of a swing on the porch of the family home, No. 469 Devitt avenue, East Youngstown.

Contrary to his orders, Mrs. Mastovich placed the child back in the swing. A second time baby fell out. Daddy got sore. With a broom handle, he struck Mrs. Mastovich over the head. When neighbors saw the blood flowing from Mrs. Mastovich's head they called the police. Mastovich was charged with wife beating.

Mrs. John Ayer, of Cincinnati, spent Sunday in this city visiting with her son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. John Ayer, of West Second street.

Mrs. G. A. McKay and daughter, Miss Nella, have moved to the upper floor apartment of what was formerly the Knox property on West Second street.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Galloway spent the week end in Granville where they were in attendance at the "Home Coming" at Denison University. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are graduates of the University.

John Prugh, State Superintendent of Building and Loans, and son Lawrence, of Columbus, spent the week end at their home in this city and will remain over until after the election Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur H. Dye, of Troy, Ohio, were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cayton Swartz, of Leaman street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Conklin, of West Second street, are preparing to leave soon to spend a winter in Florida. They have rented their residence to Mr. and Mrs. L. Steinfelds.

Mrs. Adda Nordyke, who resided with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tullis, of West Third street, left last week for a visit with her sister, Mrs. C. L. Bernard, of New Vienna. Mrs. Nordyke is recovering from an attack of typhoid fever, from which she has been ill for several weeks.

Miss Opal Atkinson, of near Spring Valley, was the week end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Burles, 30 Charles street.

THREE BALLOTS WILL BE HANDED VOTERS TUESDAY

Greene County voters at the regular election Tuesday will be handed three regular ballots, through which they will exercise their rights of suffrage.

One is the large, general ticket ballot, which contains the names or candidates for state offices, for the United States Senator and for all county offices, on the Republican, Democratic and Independent tickets.

A straight ticket can be voted by placing an "X" in the circle under the Eagle or the Rooster, but the Independent ticket is not full, there being only three candidates on the general ballot. Because of the fact that there is an Independent candidate for U. S. Senator, voters will have their choice of either S. D. Fess, Republican; Atlee Pomerene, Democrat, or Virginia's Darling Green, of Cleveland, the Independent candidate for that office.

It is necessary also that all voters mark their tickets for either one of the candidates for the short term in the County Treasurer's office, as a short term candidate will have to be elected to fill the office from election day until next office when the regularly elected candidate takes office. These short term candidates are Elbert L. Babb, former deputy treasurer and Mrs. Carrie R. Faulkner, present treasurer, the names of both being on the Independent ticket. Their candidacies should not be confused with those of Frank A. Jackson, Republican, or Harry A. Higgins, Democrat, for the regular term, and as a result of the situation voters will actually have to vote for two treasurer candidates. They must cast their ballot for either Jackson or Higgins for the regular term, then move over to the Independent column and vote for either Babb or Mrs. Faulkner.

This will dispose of the regular ballot. The Judicial Ballot contains the names of candidates for the Supreme Court Bench and for Judge of the Court of Appeals for this Appeals district. There are two supreme court judges to elect, the selections to be made from Hough and Day, the Republican nominees, Matthews and Price, the Democratic nominees, Florence Allen, of Cleveland, the Independent woman candidate, who is running alone. Selection for Court of Appeals, for which there is but one to elect, must rest between the incumbent, Judge H. L. Farneding and Frank I. Brown, both of Dayton.

The third ballot to be handed voters contains the amendment to the state constitution to be voted upon. The first on the top of the ballot, is that of the wet and dry issue, which proposes to change the constitution to legalize the sale and use of beer and light wines. The voters must vote either "yes" or "no," by placing an "X" before these words on the ballot. A vote "yes" means in favor of the amendment and "no" opposed to it. The other two amendments are on the same ballot. One regulates the indebtedness that be incurred for current operating expenses and fixes a minimum for length of time for funded debts to run. The other amendment is a tax proposal, limiting the levy that can be made without vote of the people.

Other ballots will be handed voters only in precincts where there are special issues coming up. This is true in the voting precincts in Spring Valley Township, where voters will vote for or against issuing $65,000 worth of bonds for the purpose of erecting a new high school.

AUTOIST IS BURNED TO DEATH AS CAR DESTROYED BY FIRE

Machine Skids and Turns Over, Pinning Driver Down.

London, O. Nov. 6.—William Smith, Zanesville, was burned to death and his automobile destroyed by fire on the National highway about 4 1-2 miles north of here this morning. Local officials were informed that Smith, driving west, suddenly applied his brakes to avoid collision with another machine about a mile west of Somerford. His car is said to have skidded and upset, pinning Smith beneath the car.

Smith's car is said to have caught fire when the tank on his machine burst. His body was burned beyond recognition and his arms and legs were severed from the rest of his body.

His remains were brought to the undertaking establishment of W. E. Lukens here. The accident is said to have occurred about 7:30 o'clock.

MRS. MINERVA MOORE DIES AT BATAVIA

Word has been received in the city of the death of Mrs. Minerva Moore formerly of this city, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. L. Johnson, at Batavia, Ohio, Friday October 27, at the age of 84 years.

Mrs. Moore had made her home with her daughter, for several years. She formerly was a resident of this city and Wilmington. Funeral services were held at the daughter's home, October 30, with interment at Wilmington.

HOW TO VOTE DRY

The eighteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States provides that the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes is hereafter prohibited. Yet, at the instigation of brewers, the voters of Ohio, are called upon to vote on Tuesday on a proposed State Constitutional amendment making it lawful to drink all the old fashioned intoxicating beer and wine you please.

Law is law and the violation of law is crime. So it comes to the shameful point of proposing to nullify our most sacred law, the Constitution of the United States. Every voter should feel it his duty to be sure to put a big X before the NI on this infamous proposition.

It would be a burning disgrace to the glorious state of Ohio to have its loyalty to law smirched by the adoption of this unlawful proposition. Be not deceived. Hundreds of people have been fooled on this proposition through the Enquirer's straw vote, because it was headed "Prohibition Amendment," and believing it to be such, voted "Yes," whereas it should have been headed "Wet Amendment."

MEETING IS POSTPONED

The meeting of the Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association, which was to have been held Tuesday evening, has been postponed until next Monday evening, according to the president, John R. Beacham. The meeting will be held at the Chamber of Commerce.

SAFEST WAY TO GET RID OF A COLD

TAKE FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

If you have a cold and start taking "immediate relief" medicines, you are gambling with health and even life itself. Such medicines depend upon narcotics which paralyze the nerves and allow the cold to become deeply seated in your system.

The logical way to treat a cold is by using Father John's Medicine, which gives strength to throw off the impurities, soothes and heals the lining of the breathing passages, and in the natural way helps your system to entirely get rid of the cold. The basis of Father John's Medicine has always been cod liver oil, and by our scientific process it is so compounded with other ingredients that it is readily taken up even by a weakened digestive system. It is guaranteed free from narcotic drugs or stimulants.

The XX Century Club will meet Tuesday evening Nov. 7 with Mrs. Ella Calamin, East Main Street instead of Monday.

DEATH ANNOUNCED HERE

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Johnson, of Batavia, were visitors in this city Sunday. Mrs. Johnson's mother, Mrs. Minerva Moore, who made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, died October 28, after a short illness from malignant stomach trouble.

Funeral services were held at the home in Batavia last Monday and burial was made in Wilmington cemetery.

Mrs. Moore who made her home in this city for several years had many friends here. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Johnson. One son, Franklin Moore, and a daughter, Mrs. Clara Cooley, preceded her in death several years ago.

Newlon Couldn't Feel Better If He Wanted To

The following characteristic statement was made, recently, by M. B. Newlon, 159 Buchel Ave., Akron, Ohio, a valued employee of the Good-year Rubber Co.

"What it takes to build a man up to good health Tanlac certainly has it. Before I took the medicine I was all run down like an old worn-out clock, and just could not get right. My stomach just wouldn't work at all, and I suffered from gas pains, bloating and nausea so bad I dreaded to eat anything. I got awfully thin and nervous, couldn't sleep worth a cent, and got up mornings with a terrible headache and so dizzy, I could hardly stoop over to put my shoes on."

"After a few weeks use of Tanlac I haven't an ache or a pain. In fact, I couldn't feel better if I wanted to. I can work all day and never seem to tire any more. Tanlac is certainly great."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

This will dispose of the regular ballot. The Judicial Ballot contains the names of candidates for the Supreme Court Bench and for Judge of the Court of Appeals for this Appeals district. There are two supreme court judges to elect, the selections to be made from Hough and Day, the Republican nominees, Matthews and Price, the Democratic nominees, Florence Allen, of Cleveland, the Independent woman candidate, who is running alone. Selection for Court of Appeals, for which there is but one to elect, must rest between the incumbent, Judge H. L. Fernald and Frank I. Brown, both of Dayton.

The third ballot to be handed voters contains the amendment to the state constitution to be voted upon. The first on the top of the ballot, is that of the wet and dry issue, which proposes to change the constitution to legalize the sale and use of beer and light wines. The voters must vote either "yes" or "no," by placing an "X" before these words on the ballot. A vote "yes" means in favor of the amendment and "no" opposed to it.

The other two amendments are on the same ballot. One regulates the indebtedness that be incurred for current operating expenses and fixes a minimum for length of time for funded debts to run. The other amendment is a tax proposal, limiting the levy that can be made without vote of the people.

Other ballots will be handed voters only in precincts where there are special issues coming up. This is true in the voting precincts in Spring Valley Township, where voters will vote for or against issuing $65,000 worth of bonds for the purpose of erecting a new high school.

AUTOIST IS BURNED TO DEATH AS CAR DESTROYED BY FIRE

Machine Skids and Turns Over, Pining Driver Down.

London, O. Nov. 6.—William Smith, Zanesville, was burned to death and his automobile destroyed by fire on the National highway about 4 1/2 miles north of here this morning.

Local officials were informed that Smith, driving west, suddenly applied his brakes to avoid collision with another machine about a mile west of Somerford. His car is said to have skidded and upset, pinning Smith beneath the car.

Smith's car is said to have caught fire when the tank on his machine burst. His body was burned beyond recognition and his arms and legs were severed from the rest of his body.

His remains were brought to the undertaking establishment of W. E. Lukens here. The accident is said to have occurred about 7:30 o'clock.

MRS. MINERVA MOORE DIES AT BATAVIA

Word has been received in the city of the death of Mrs. Minerva Moore, formerly of this city, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. L. Johnson, at Batavia, Ohio, Friday October 27, at the age of 84 years.

Mrs. Moore had made her home with her daughter, for several years. She formerly was a resident of this city and Wilmington. Funeral services were held at the daughter's home, October 30, with interment at Wilmington.

HOW TO VOTE DRY

The eighteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States provides that the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes is hereafter prohibited. Yet, at the instigation of brewers, the voters of Ohio, are called upon to vote on Tuesday on a proposed State Constitutional amendment making it lawful to drink all the old fashioned intoxicating beer and wine you please.

Law is law and the violation of law is crime. So it comes to the shameful point of proposing to nullify our most sacred law, the Constitution of the United States. Every voter should feel it his duty to be sure to put a big "X" before the "N" on this infamous proposition.

It would be a burning disgrace to the glorious state of Ohio to have its loyalty to law smirched by the adoption of this unlawful proposition. Be not deceived. Hundreds of people have been fooled on this proposition through the Enquirer's straw vote, because it was headed "Prohibition Amendment," and believing it to be such, voted "Yes," whereas it should have been headed "Wet Amendment."

MEETING IS POSTPONED

The meeting of the Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association, which was to have been held Tuesday evening, has been postponed until next Monday evening, according to the president, John R. Beacham. The meeting will be held at the Chamber of Commerce.

SAFEST WAY TO GET RID OF A COLD

TAKE FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

If you have a cold and start taking "immediate relief" medicines, you are gambling with health and even life itself. Such medicines depend upon narcotics which paralyze the nerves and allow the cold to become deeply seated in your system.

The logical way to treat a cold is by using Father John's Medicine, which gives strength to throw off the impurities, soothes and heals the lining of the breathing passages, and in the natural way helps your system to entirely get rid of the cold.

The basis of Father John's Medicine has always been cod liver oil, and by our scientific process it is so compounded with other ingredients that it is readily taken up even by a weakened digestive system. It is guaranteed free from narcotic drugs or stimulants.

TWO ARRESTED IN RAID BY POLICE

Lee Mallet, 47, and Walter Dodge, 27, both of 725 East Main Street, were arrested by police on a raid Saturday night at ten o'clock at the East Main Street address, and locked up on charges of possessing liquor.

Both men pled not guilty when they were arraigned before Judge E. Dawson Smith in Police Court Monday morning and bond fixed at $500 each, in default of which they were still in jail. They will have their hearings Wednesday afternoon.

The raid Saturday night was conducted by Lieutenant of Police Mangan who was accompanied by Patrolmen Ancil Stephens, Fred Jones, William Matthews and George Spencer. The raiding officers confiscated a quantity of corn whiskey and some wine and some mixtures in the little grocery conducted by the men arrested.

TO BE GIVEN HEARING

Harold Jenks, 19, arrested by Police Lieutenant Mangan Saturday night on a charge of drunk and disorderly, will have his hearing in Police Court Wednesday morning. He is out under $25 bail.

FINED BY COURT

Leigh Gallagher, 29, of London, was arrested on a plain drunk charge by Police Lieutenant Mangan and Patrolman Matthews Saturday night. He was fined $10 and costs in Police Court by Judge E. D. Smith.

The XX Century Club will meet Tuesday evening Nov. 7 with Mrs. Ella Calamin, East Main Street instead of Monday.

DEATH ANNOUNCED HERE

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Johnson, of Batavia, were visitors in this city Sunday. Mrs. Johnson's mother, Mrs. Minerva Moore, who made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, died October 28, after a short illness from malignant stomach trouble.

Funeral services were held at the home in Batavia last Monday and burial was made in Wilmington cemetery.

Mrs. Moore who made her home in this city for several years had many friends here. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Johnson. One son, Franklin Moore, and a daughter, Mrs. Clara Cooley, preceded her in death several years ago.

Newlon Couldn't Feel Better If He Wanted To

The following characteristic statement was made, recently, by M. B. Newlon, 159 Buchel Ave., Akron, Ohio, a valued employee of the Good-year Rubber Co.

"What it takes to build a man up to good health Tanlac certainly has it. Before I took the medicine I was all run down like an old worn-out clock, and just could not get right. My stomach just wouldn't work at all, and I suffered from gas pains, bloating and nausea so bad I dreaded to eat anything. I got awfully thin and nervous, couldn't sleep worth a cent, and got up mornings with a terrible headache and so dizzy, I could hardly stoop over to put my shoes on."

"After a few weeks use of Tanlac I haven't an ache or a pain. In fact, I couldn't feel better if I wanted to. I can work all day and never seem to tire any more. Tanlac is certainly great."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

CHINESE GIVEN FULL CONTROL OF IMPORTANT RAILROAD.

Formal notice was given of the termination of international control of the Chinese Eastern Railway. The Department of State made public a note which Minister Schurman will hand to the Peking Foreign Office announcing withdrawal by the United States from the Inter-Allied Committee at Vladivostok and Technical Board at Harbin. The department declared it was understood the French, British, Japanese and Italian Governments would deliver notes of like purport.

The dissolution of the two international bodies is in accord with the general agreement for that end following withdrawal of Japanese troops from Siberia. The agreement, made originally between the United States and Japan in February, 1919, subsequently was concurred in by China, Great Britain, France and Italy.

The United States reserves all rights, under the Washington Armament Conference resolutions, to hold China responsible for the adequate protection of the railway, for obligations to the stockholders and for advances of money and material made directly or indirectly during the period of international control.

THE PENALTY OF SOCIAL OSTRACISM.

One idea of big business is that which reckons profits entirely in terms of material gain. It considers merely whether a lot of money is made, and makes no scrupulous inquiry into the circumstances behind the balance sheet and the statement of the corporate production, offered as a showing to the stockholders and the public.

But there are few industrial leaders who hold that money is the "be-all and end-all" of business. Most men look for a greater satisfaction than that of piling up a fortune. They seek an honorable name, a good repute in the community, the approval of conscience and of their associates. There is no penalty that hurts so much as social ostracism. That is why Arthur Hadley once recommended it as a punishment for men who in financial dealings sought to circumvent the law.

Great industries today take account of the human element as never before. Efficiency is demanded of each personal factor; but the human being is not confused with the machine. It is realized clearly that the most satisfactory work comes from satisfied workmen. Big business has learned to be considerate of the well-being of its operatives.

THE SIXTH SENSE.

Next to the senses of seeing, hearing, tasting, smelling and feeling ought to come the sense of humor. We cannot exercise properly any of these physical functions without the sixth sense that should correct, if not control, the use of them all. The man who cannot take a joke against himself has but half learned how to live. He is both a poor sport and a poor neighbor. If he cannot see the funny side, he takes but a half-view of life and its problems and perplexities. No matter how anxious the dilemma in which we find ourselves, it is hard to imagine that at some unexpected moment an amusing phase may not suddenly disclose itself. The rain ceases, the cloud breaks and the sun of laughter brilliantly shines through. There should be a special beatitude for those who in the midst of tragedy can discover some sunny, funny aspect—which does not imply that they are either irreverent or frivolous by nature.

Lincoln irritated excessively certain stodgy, pompous members of his Cabinet because he found relief in the drolleries of Artemus Ward and because in discussion he sometimes threw the light of a mirth-provoking parable on a question at issue. He knew what he was doing, and he knew what a good joke did for him.

SOME THOUGHTS ON AN APPROACHING ELECTION.

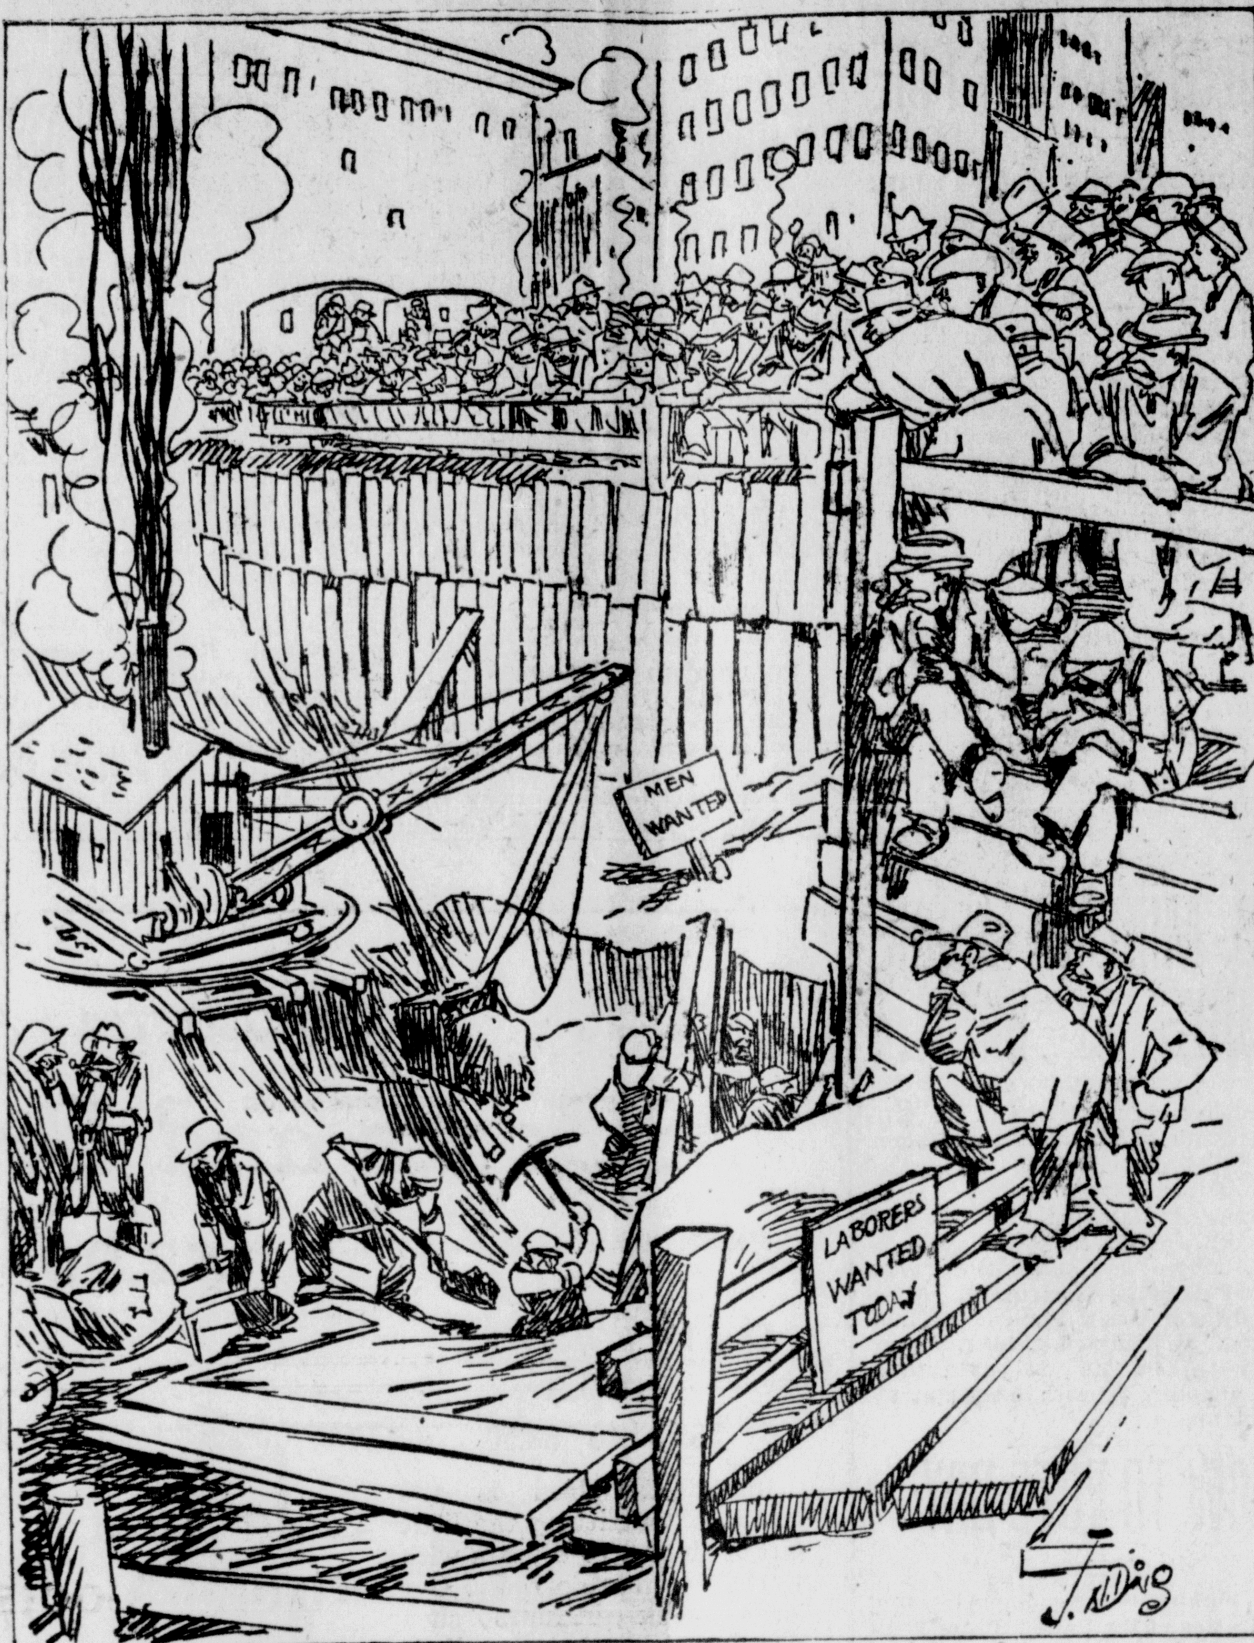

Do you say that you have only one vote, that you can influence only a few people, and that the little you can do would amount to not much more than nothing? But it is the sum of such individual effort that counts in politics. Many thousands of others, more alive to their duties and responsibilities, are at work creating and organizing public sentiment as election day approaches. National, state and county chairmen can no more than direct this individual activity. If you believe something in politics, why should you not work for it between now and election day?

And why not give election day to your country, not simply by going to the polls and casting your own ballot in accordance with your own convictions, though that is the first duty of citizenship, but by urging your neighbors to vote—by arousing them to a sense of their civic duty?

Election day is by far the most important of our patriotic holidays. Upon that day we all show whether we really believe in the sentiments to which we give expression on other days of national rejoicing or dedication. Why not, if it is at all possible for you to do so, give that one day to your country, and become a volunteer worker at the polls in behalf of those things you believe to be for the best interests of your community and your country?

Let us give some serious thought to the real significance of politics, and then some service to the cause in which we believe. If every citizen will do that and if every citizen will carry into the polling place only his love of country and his convictions as to the best method of serving it, most of the wrongs and abuses in politics and government of which we complain between elections will quickly disappear.

A CHAT TO MOTHERS

The last time I wrote a Beauty Chat particularly for young mothers I suggested that they wear loose and attractively made smocks. For the first thought of the young mother is quite apt to be one of dismay at the idea of losing temporarily and perhaps permanently, the slim lines of her girlish figure. She need not lose them permanently if she takes care; later I shall give her many suggestions about this. Temporarily, of course the figure must change and perhaps seem ugly to her for a while. But smocks will make her appear youthfully slim for many months.

This first thought about herself is not selfish as it might appear. It is quite right and proper for a girl to pride herself on having and keeping an attractive figure. It is no more vain of her than to be proud of good health. Besides her pretty face and attractive figure have endeared her to the man she loves best; it is quite natural that she should fear the loss of any of her pretty characteristics. Such fears are groundless, as she will soon find out.

To keep her prettiness during this often trying period she must have sufficient rest, otherwise her face will look tired and little lines will form around her mouth, while her whole figure will lose its spring and elasticity. While resting she may be doing useful work. In fact, if her first thought is for herself her second will be for the trousseau of the tiny baby. This can be sewn while she lounges in a comfortable chair, or better yet, sits propped up in the corner of a couch with her feet straight out before her. This is a graceful, comfortable position and one in which it is easy to sew. Fortunately she will want the trousseau hand made for at this time she should not use a heavy sewing machine.

Fatty: The only way to reduce the legs and ankles is by means of vigorous exercise or massage, unless one reduces the whole body. The latter method is much more effective since it can be accomplished so easily through right choice of kinds of foods.

Worried: You are taking very good care of your skin through cleansing it at night and closing the pores with ice; yet you may be so exposed to soil that such a cleansing will not check the formation of blackheads. Give your complexion a weekly treatment for this trouble alone. A professional one would be the best, and if you cannot continue with them, you can repeat them yourself at home. Most busy women in large cities keep their skin clear in this way.

MUSICAL COMEDY IS SCHEDULED FOR XENIA

"Shuffle Along," the big musical comedy with an all-colored cast, which comes to City Hall Theater the night before Thanksgiving has been popular in every city it has shown so far this season, according to criticisms from Canton, Erie, Pa., and other large cities where it has been playing.

The production is being brought here through arrangements with the Standard Amusement Company of this city. It boasts of new and snappy song and dance numbers. John Vaughan and Edgar Connors are the comedians and they are hard and long, while the leads are handled by Blanche Thompson and Theodore McDonald, both of whom have good voices.

Blackheaded Pimples Quit With S.S.S.

Why? Pimple-Poison Goes When Red-Blood-Cells Increase! S. S. S. Builds These Red-Blood-Cells.

You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can't live in the red rivers of your blood as long as there are enough rich red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells!

That is what you need when you see pimples staring at you in the mirror. Black-headed pimples are worse! Eczema is worse yet! You can try everything under the sun—you'll find only one answer, more cell-power in your blood! The tremendous results, produced by an increase in red-blood-cells is one of the A. B. C's of medical science. Red-cells mean clear-pure rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexions. They mean nerve power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from the blackhead pest, from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions, from rheumatism, impurities, from that tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S. S. S. will build them for you. S. S. S. has been known since 1826, as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

OLD BILL'S MEMOIRS.

Old Wilhelm's story of his reign proves what I've always said, that he alone was safe and sane, and sound in heart and head; all other men were born in vain, mere strips of gingerbread. On useful labors he was bent throughout his long career, his mighty intellect was lent to studies he held dear, he did not give a punctured cent for warlike atmosphere. He wished to build up German schools and see the churches grow, to watch the farmers, with their tools, go forth to reap and sow; the thought of blood in crimson pools filled all his breast with woe. Judge, then, his majesty's surprise, when war broke out one day; some insolent and meddling guys had shooed World Peace away; they plotted war while Wilhelm's eyes were fixed on fields of hay. He had a pencil in his hand, and he was doing sums; how much, he figured, will this land produce when harvest comes? And up there came an army band with martial fifes and drums. The war was on, and Wilhelm leaned against a fence and wept; the greatest blow since he was weaned—Mars labored while he slept! The old world trembled and careened while he 'mid daisies stopt! Designing men of many lands, were plotting, in cahoot; and captains drilled bloodthirsty bands to emulate the brute while Wilhelm's white and saintly hands were toying with a flute!

Today's Talk

A STRETCH OF GOD'S PARK I would that you might see them as I saw them, and only as October is able to show them in all their flowing gold—

The Canadian Rockies!

Long before I had even reached Banff, I knew that I had come into a new world. Peak after peak of white crowned creatures of lost ages silently stared into my face, melting me into littleness, but presently rebuilding me and giving to my mind such a giant spectacle of wonder and mystery as I had never seen before.

There they sat, thousands of feet in height these mountains clad in coats of pale gray, brown, purple blue—with skirts of green, formed by the never dying pines at their feet.

Mile after mile of huge formations, perhaps millions of years old. Slanting layers of rock craggy tops, endlessly white with their dippings from the snow great gorges and canyons into which empty the waters of scores of melting glaciers and the rush and fall of these waters against billions of polished stones—each and all stirred me to the depths of my feeling.

Here was a vast studio in which the artists of Heaven alone might worthily paint!

Now the train stops. I look into a valley, perhaps a thousand feet below. A winding river picks its way through a gorgeous patch of autumn color. The poplars are all in their purest gold.

And looking arms with them are the great pines, perfect in symmetry, and how green—how very green. I look up. The sun streaks paths across the pointing peaks, like the reaching fingers of a huge hand, casting dull shadows that creep down the sides of the entire range. Such vivid contrasts of color—such beauty. I ask myself if this is not the 'Garden of Eden,' and I hear women saying out loud: "Oh, Oh, Oh!"

I noticed that the waters of the snakelike rivers are all as clear as crystal and cast in a greenish blue.

Now and then I note a stream far up the sides of some mountain, gushing forth and dashing its life to the endless flow of waters below. On either side what appear to be deep veins are nothing more than paths cut by the melting snows and falling rains. Here and there a tiny dog houses seen. What look like tiny dog houses from the distance are really homes where hardy folk are living—happy in their valley of dreams.

But no words are adequate, for this is a stretch of God's park—a sample of Heaven here and now!

Great industries today take account of the human element as never before. Efficiency is demanded of each personal factor; but the human being is not confused with the machine. It is realized clearly that the most satisfactory work comes from satisfied workmen. Big business has learned to be considerate of the well-being of its operatives.

THE SIXTH SENSE.

Next to the senses of seeing, hearing, tasting, smelling and feeling ought to come the sense of humor. We cannot exercise properly any of these physical functions without the sixth sense that should correct, if not control, the use of them all. The man who cannot take a joke against himself has but half learned how to live. He is both a poor sport and a poor neighbor. If he cannot see the funny side, he takes but a half-view of life and its problems and perplexities. No matter how anxious the dilemma in which we find ourselves, it is hard to imagine that at some unexpected moment an amusing phase may not suddenly disclose itself. The rain ceases, the cloud breaks and the sun of laughter brilliantly shines through. There should be a special beatitude for those who in the midst of tragedy can discover some sunny, funny aspect—which does not imply that they are either irreverent or frivolous by nature.

Lincoln irritated excessively certain stodgy, pompous members of his Cabinet because he found relief in the drolleries of Artemus Ward and because in discussion he sometimes threw the light of a mirth-provoking parable on a question at issue. He knew what he was doing, and he knew what a good joke did for him.

SOME THOUGHTS ON AN APPROACHING ELECTION.

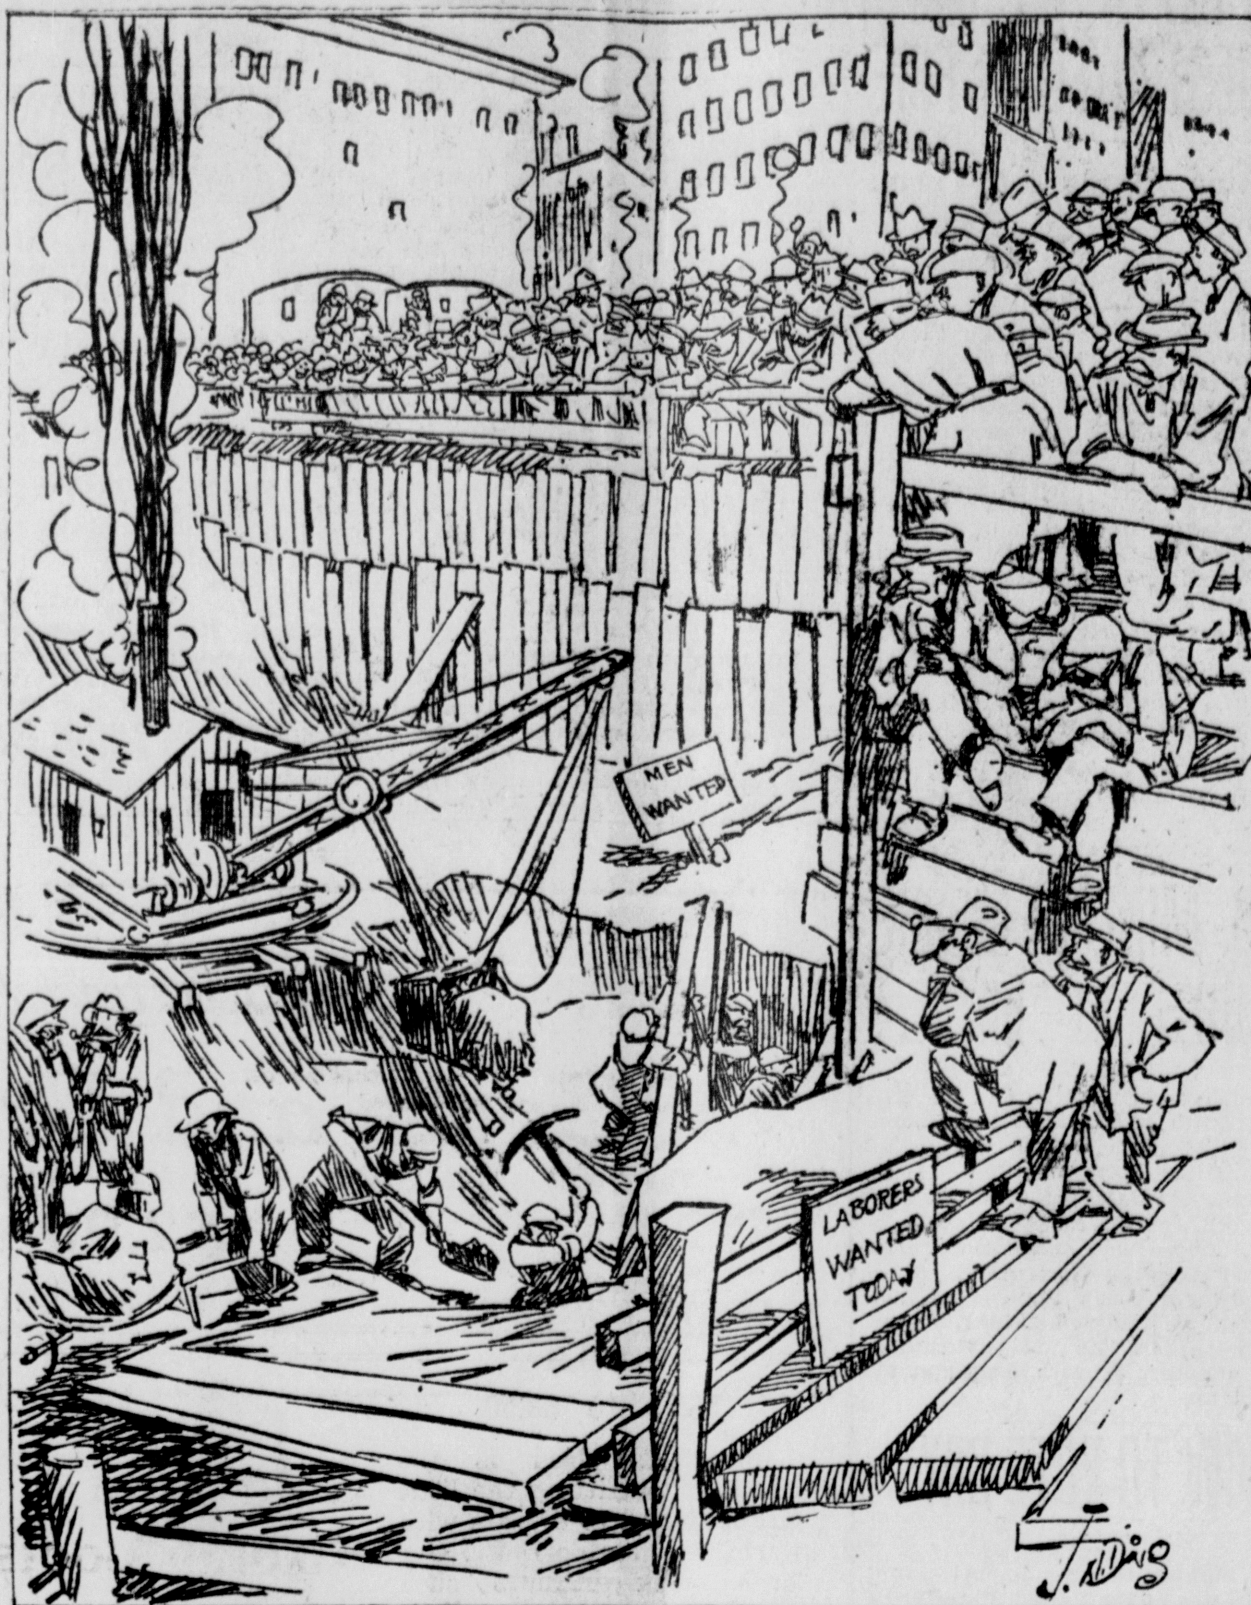

Do you say that you have only one vote, that you can influence only a few people, and that the little you can do would amount to not much more than nothing? But it is the sum of such individual effort that counts in politics. Many thousands of others, more alive to their duties and responsibilities, are at work creating and organizing public sentiment as election day approaches. National, state and county chairmen can no more than direct this individual activity. If you believe something in politics, why should you not work for it between now and election day?

And why not give election day to your country, not simply by going to the polls and casting your own ballot in accordance with your own convictions, though that is the first duty of citizenship, but by urging your neighbors to vote—by arousing them to a sense of their civic duty?

Election day is by far the most important of our patriotic holidays. Upon that day we all show whether we really believe in the sentiments to which we give expression on other days of national rejoicing or dedication. Why not, if it is at all possible for you to do so, give that one day to your country, and become a volunteer worker at the polls in behalf of those things you believe to be for the best interests of your community and your country?

Let us give some serious thought to the real significance of politics, and then some service to the cause in which we believe. If every citizen will do that and if every citizen will carry into the polling place only his love of country and his convictions as to the best method of serving it, most of the wrongs and abuses in politics and government of which we complain between elections will quickly disappear.

While the police have not received any pay for some weeks and their salary is long past due, owing to the depletion of the police fund, the officers are still doing duty at the old stand. There has been an impression created in some quarters that on account of the state of affairs the officers are "sore" but this has been denied by Chief Smith.

A CHAT TO MOTHERS

The last time I wrote a Beauty Chat particularly for young mothers I suggested that they wear loose and attractively made smocks. For the first thought of the young mother is quite apt to be one of dismay at the idea of losing temporarily and perhaps permanently the slim lines of her girlish figure. She need not lose them permanently if she takes care; later I shall give her many suggestions about this. Temporarily, of course the figure must change and perhaps seem ugly to her for a while. But smocks will make her appear youthfully slim for many months.

This first thought about herself is not selfish as it might appear. It is quite right and proper for a girl to pride herself on having and keeping an attractive figure. It is no more vain of her than to be proud of good health. Besides her pretty face and attractive figure have endeared her to the man she loves best; it is quite natural that she should fear the loss of any of her pretty characteristics. Such fears are groundless, as she will soon find out.

To keep her prettiness during this often trying period she must have sufficient rest, otherwise her face will look tired and little lines will form around her mouth, while her whole figure will lose its spring and elasticity. While resting she may be doing useful work. In fact, if her first thought is for herself her second will be for the trousseau of the tiny baby. This can be sewn while she lounges in a comfortable chair, or better yet, sits propped up in the corner of a couch with her feet straight out before her. This is a graceful, comfortable position and one in which it is easy to sew. Fortunately she will want the trousseau hand made for at this time she should not use a heavy sewing machine.

Fatty: The only way to reduce the legs and ankles is by means of vigorous exercise or massage, unless one reduces the whole body. The latter method is much more effective since it can be accomplished so easily through right choice of kinds of foods.

Worried: You are taking very good care of your skin through cleansing it at night and closing the pores with ice; yet you may be so exposed to soil that such a cleansing will not check the formation of blackheads. Give your complexion a weekly treatment for this trouble alone. A professional one would be the best, and if you cannot continue with them, you can repeat them yourself at home. Most busy women in large cities keep their skin clear in this way.

MUSICAL COMEDY IS SCHEDULED FOR XENIA

"Shuffle Along," the big musical comedy with an all-colored cast, which comes to City Hall Theater the night before Thanksgiving has been popular in every city it has shown so far this season, according to criticisms from Canton, Erie, Pa., and other large cities where it has been playing.

The production is being brought here through arrangements with the Standard Amusement Company of this city. It boasts of new and snappy song and dance numbers. John Vaughner and Edgar Connors are the comedians, and they are hard and long, while the leads are handled by Blanche Thompson and Theodore McDonald, both of whom have good voices.

Blackheaded Pimples Quit With S. S. S.

Why? Pimple-Poison Goes When Red-Blood-Cells Increased! S. S. S. Builds These Red-Blood-Cells. You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can't live in the red rivers of your blood as long as there are enough rich red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells!

That is what you need when you see pimples staring at you in the mirror. Black-headed pimples are worse! Eczema is worse yet! You can try everything under the sun—you'll find only one answer, more cell-power in your blood! The tremendous results, produced by an increase in red-blood-cells is one of the A. B. C's of medical science. Red-cells mean clear-pure rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexions. They mean nerve power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from the blackhead pest, from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions, from rheumatism impurities from that tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S. S. S. will build them for you. S. S. S. has been known since 1826, as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-cleaners and system strengtheners ever produced. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

OLD BILL'S MEMOIRS.

Old Wilhelm's story of his reign proves what I've always said, that he alone was safe and sane, and sound in heart and head; all other men were born in vain, mere strips of gingerbread. On useful labors he was bent throughout his long career, his mighty intellect was lent to studies he held dear, he did not give a punctured cent for warlike atmosphere. He wished to build up German schools and see the churches grow, to watch the farmers, with their tools, go forth to reap and sow; the thought of blood in crimson pools filled all his breast with woe. Judge, then, his majesty's surprise, when war broke out one day; some insolent and meddling guys had shooed World Peace away; they plotted war while Wilhelm's eyes were fixed on fields of hay. He had a pencil in his hand, and he was doing sums; how much, he figured, will this land produce when harvest comes? And up there came an army band with martial fifes and drums. The war was on, and Wilhelm leaned against a fence and wept; the greatest blow since he was weaned—Mars labored while he slept! The old world trembled and careened while he 'mid daisies slept! Designing men of many lands, were plotting, in cahoot; and captains drilled bloodthirsty bands to emulate the brute while Wilhelm's white and saintly hands were toying with a flute!

Today's Talk

A STRETCH OF GOD'S PARK I would that you might see them as I saw them, and only as October is able to show them in all their flower-gold—

The Canadian Rockies!

Long before I had even reached Banff, I knew that I had come into a new world. Peak after peak of white crowned creatures of lost ages silently stared into my face, melting me into littleness, but presently re-imbuing me and giving to my mind such a giant spectacle of wonder and mystery as I had never seen before.

There they sat, thousands of feet in height, these mountains clad in coats of pale gray, brown, purple blue—with skirts of green, formed by the never dying pines at their feet.

Mile after mile of huge formations, perhaps millions of years old. Slanting layers of rock craggy tops, endlessly white with their dippings from the snow great gorges and canyons into which empty the waters of scores of melting glaciers and the rush and fall of these waters against billions of polished stones—each and all stirred me to the depths of my feeling.

Here was a vast studio in which the artists of Heaven alone might worthily paint!

Now the train stops. I look into a valley, perhaps a thousand feet below. A winding river picks its way through a gorgeous path of autumn color. The poplars are all in their purest gold—

And looking arms with them are the great pines, perfect in symmetry, and how green—how very green. I look up. The sun streaks paths across the pointing peaks, like the reaching fingers of a huge hand, casting dull shadows that creep down the sides of the entire range. Such vivid contrasts of color—such beauty! I ask myself if this is not the 'Garden of Eden,' and I hear women saying out loud: "Oh, Oh, Oh!"

I noticed that the waters of the snakelike rivers are all as clear as crystal and cast in a greenish blue.

Now and then I note a stream far up the sides of some mountain, rushing forth and dashing its life to the endless flow of waters below. On either side what appear to be deep veins are nothing more than paths cut by the melting snows and falling rains.

Here and there a fertile plain is seen. What look like tiny dog houses from the distance are really homes where hardy folk are living—happy in their valley of dreams.

But no words are adequate, for this is a stretch of God's park—a sample of Heaven here and now!

WET AMENDMENT RAPPED BY LOCAL PREACHERS SUNDAY

An audience that filled the First United Presbyterian Church, numbering approximately 700 people, responded to the union meeting of Xenia city churches in the interest of the dry cause Sunday evening.

Ministers feel that the meeting met with a magnificent response, which was an inspiration to the leaders of the dry cause.

"Everything pointed to a victory on Tuesday," said Dr. D. D. Dodds, Monday, "since the best people of Greene County were represented at the meeting, and it was generally conceded that the voters of the county will do their duty at the polls Tuesday in the wet and dry question."

Addressees of the evening were made by four Xenia ministers, each taking for his subject the proposed light wine and beer amendment, its various phases and danger. Dr. D. D. Dodds of the First United Presbyterian Church was the first speaker, taking his text from the seventh chapter of Joshua, the thirteenth verse "there was an accursed thing in our midst." His address dealt with the various "accursed things" the greatest of which is the liquor question, he said. "The only way to rid ourselves of the accursed thing is by the ballot, at the polls Tuesday," said Dr. Dodds.

The Rev. B. B. Uhl, of the First Lutheran Church, was the second speaker, with the text "Put On The Armor of God," emphasizing the fact of its need in withstanding the wiles of the devil. It is every man's and woman's duty to cast his or her vote on Tuesday to overcome this "will of the devil," was one of the Rev. Mr. Uhl's statements.

"Dry Denistry" was taken as the subject of the address by the Rev. C. P. Proudfit, of the First United Presbyterian Church. The subject was well chosen and proved one of the most forceful on the evening's program.

"We have been hearers, now it is time for us to be doers," stated the Rev. V. F. Brown, of Trinity M. E. Church, the last speaker in his address on "Do It Now." We have overcome the final test, that of our ballot, said the Rev. Mr. Brown. "Liquor is an enemy to our state, and our soul and the man or woman who do not vote on Tuesday does not love the state," the Rev. Mr. Brown said. The program of the evening included a vocal solo "Dry Those Tears" by Miss Emma Davidson, which was well received. Dr. Fred Elliott, formerly of Mansfield, Ohio, who is en route to California, for his health, led in the closing prayer and benediction.

XENIA IMPERIALS LOSE TO DAYTON CADETS SIX TO 0

In a close and well-played game Sunday, in which neither team possessed the advantage for long, the Xenia Imperials, were defeated by the Dayton Cadets by the score of 6 to 0, at the Reserve Ball Park.

The teams were neck and neck most of the way. A drive from their own 40 yard line enabled the visitors to score.

Wolf crossing with the only marker late in the second quarter, but Monahan failed to goal for the extra point.

Foley kicked off to Monahan to start the pastime, and he returned 30-yards. Chapin made five and Monahan circled left end for first down. Monahan bored in for three. Wolf was stopped, but Chapin went off tackle for four. Chapin circled right end for eight yards and another first down. Dayton was penalized ten yards however for having a backfield man in motion. A pass grounded, and on the next play Wolf fumbled, Foley recovering for Xenia. Leachy tried tackle for six yards, but was stopped on a jaunt through center. Heery circled left end for three yards but a pass grounded, giving Dayton the ball on downs. Monahan made 4, and Wolf circled left end for eight and first down. Sales tried tackle for four and Chapin made three. Wolf made it first down as the quarter ended, with the ball in the visitor's possession on the 11.

Monahan made two and Sales three, but Wolf was stopped, Chapin could make but one, and the ball was Xenia's on their own six yard line. Heery made four, and Foley three, when Xenia fumbled, Baker recovering for Dayton on Xenia's 19. Monahan made five around end, and Wolf hit for three. Chapin was stopped and Sales failed, the ball going to Xenia on downs, on their own 14. Foley punted 28-yards to Dayton's own 40. Sales made two and Monahan two. Sales made five and Wolf three for first down. Chapin made seven around end and Sales made three and another first down. Dayton was penalized 15-yards however for having 12-men on the field. Sales made the 15 up around left end. Chapin made three and Sales went around end for eight. Wolf went off tackle for four and a touchdown on the next play. Monahan failed in the attempt to goal. Dayton kicked off to Robinette who returned mid-field but fumbled giving Dayton the ball on the 50. A pass grounded. Monahan failed to gain and Wolf was tossed for a two-yard loss. Chapin punting 30 yards to McFadden who was down on his own 22. A pass McFadden to Foley netted 11 yards and first down. Robinette tried guard for a two, and McFadden found for a sneak as the half ended.

Dayton kicked off to Robinette to start the second half, who passed the ball to Wade on a criss-cross and returned 12-yards, to Xenia's own 32. Neville lost three and Boggan made four through center. A pass grounded and Leachy punted to Dayton on Xenia's 42. A pass grounded, but Sales hit tackle for 7. Monahan made it first down around end, and then four. Monahan was stopped and a pass grounded, while Chapin was thrown for a four-yard loss, giving the ball to Xenia on their own 37. Boggan made three and Robinette was tossed for a 13-yard loss. Leachy picked up four as the quarter end.

Foley punted to Dayton on Xenia's 21. Monahan made three, and Wolf failed to gain. Sales was also stopped and Chapin missed a drop kick that fell. Heery added two, and a pass failed. Wade lost two and Leachy punted to Dayton on their own 40. Two passes failed and Sales was stopped, Chapin punting to Boggan. Foley passed to Wade for a 22-yard gain and first down. Foley made two and Dayton was penalized five for off-side play. Leachy made it first down. A pass grounded and Leachy and Foley were stopped. Skelly made one yard and the ball went to the visitors. Dayton was penalized 15-yards for pushing on the

GUEST OF HONOR AT CHARMING AFFAIR

Miss Emma Davidson, whose marriage to Mr. W. J. Cherry will take place November 14, was the guest of honor at a charmingly appointed affair given Saturday afternoon by Misses Hazel Flagg and Lillian Dixon at the home of Miss Flagg on North Galloway Street.

Feathery yellow corymbiums formed the decorations about the rooms. During the afternoon a musical contest in which Scotch Irish and American songs were used furnished diversion. The prize, a song "The Spirit Flower" by Campbell Tipton, was won by Mrs. James Adair. Following the contest the guests spent the remainder of the afternoon hemming gay hued dust cloths which were in all the rainbow colors and in embroidering in outline stitch the various kinds of farm animals that had been stamped in the corners of the cloths. The cloths were then presented to the bride elect for use in her farm home. While guests were busy with their needles several delightful songs were given by Mrs.

first play. Wolf, Sales and Chapin failed to gain and Monahan made a scant yard. Chapin punting to Leachy who fumbled, Hackenworth recovering for Dayton as the game ended. The lineup:

EXPECT 600 PEOPLE TO ATTEND SUNDAY MEETING IN DAYTON

At least, 600 Xenia people will compose the delegation that will attend the "Bully" Sunday meeting at Dayton, Friday evening, arrangements for this number being made by the Xenia Ministerial Association, at the meeting held Monday morning. The large delegation from this city will go to Dayton by machine or on the traction line, special cars being arranged for their convenience.

The paper of the meeting was given by the Rev. B. B. Uhl, of the First Lutheran Church, on "Some Present Day Tendencies and Protestantism." Two new members of the body, the Rev. Albert J. Fursenberger, of the Friends Church, and the Rev. R. E. Brown, of the First Baptist Church, were introduced at the meeting.

ATTEND MEETING IN COLUMBUS, OHIO

Mrs. Carrie I. Robertson, executive secretary of the Social Service League and Miss Bertha Trebein, a member of the League Board, and Mrs. M. R. Snodgrass, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Oglesbee of the County Visiting Board, returned Saturday from Columbus, where they attended the session of the State Welfare Conference.

The convention, according to Mrs. Robertson, went on record as having the largest number of delegates, every county in the state being represented. During the session, the delegates voted that the organization pledge itself as for absolute prohibition.

PRAYER MEETINGS HELD AT ONE CHURCH

The series of all-day meetings that are to be held under the auspices of the Greene County Dry Federation, Tuesday, Election Day, will be held at the First Reformed Church, continuously from 5:30 o'clock in the morning to the same hour in the evening, instead at the various city churches as announced by Dry Federation leaders Saturday, it became known Monday.

The series of leaders from the Xenia church, and the hours of each service were announced on Saturday's paper, and will be followed during the entire day.

SOUTH AMERICA WON'T BUY FRENCH LIVESTOCK

Paris, Nov. 6.—Argentina and Uruguay are making commercial reprisals for the recent decrees of the French Ministry of Agriculture forbidding the importation of foreign cattle, according to Paris newspapers.

Stock breeders in the South American countries, who formerly purchased fancy cattle for breeding purposes in Normandy and other parts of France, are now patronizing Belgian and German breeders. Germany is said to have imported from Argentina alone so far this year 100,000 tons of fresh meat and 100,000 tons of frozen meat.

Vote for Judge Ferneding

ENDORSEMENTS BY MEMBERS OF THE BAR AND OTHER CITIZENS

In each county there are courts of justices of the peace, probate courts and common pleas courts. The Court of Appeals which holds court in the counties of Greene, Champaign, Darke, Clarke, Montgomery, Shelby, Miami, Franklin, Fayette, Madison and Preble is a court to which cases decided in these three lower courts may be taken for review or reversal, and is a court of last resort in nearly all litigated cases. That it is therefore necessary for experienced and well qualified men to be its judges is apparent to all. Judge Ferneding is the only one of the three judges on this Court of Appeals who is a candidate for re-election this year, and he has in his previous experience given competent, efficient, and satisfactory service to the people of the above district.

This office is a non-partisan—in other words the candidates' names appear on a separate non-partisan ballot, and one judge of the court is elected every two years. The undersigned committee is composed of Democrats and Republicans alike, and all join in the hope that the court may be retained in its present membership by the re-election of Judge Ferneding whose integrity, competence, ability and tried efficiency recommend him to all as qualified for this office, and we do not think experiments should be resorted to for any partisan reason.

We know a large part, probably eighty percent, of the lawyers all over the district will vote for Judge Ferneding because they know his qualifications and ability as a judge.

His opponent is now and has been court stenographer in Dayton and has had very little experience as a lawyer and none as a judge. While we do not in any way wish to reflect upon him, we consider his experience not much as to fit him for preferment to this office so important to the people.

We therefore earnestly request our fellow citizens to give a little time toward electing Judge Ferneding to the Court of Appeals on November 7th, for the reasons above named. The office is non-partisan and his name appears on the Non-Partisan Judicial Ticket.

BABB MEANS BEST $25 to the Owner of the Oldest DeLaval in Each State

To assist in determining the exact length of service which De Laval Cream Separators are capable of giving, the De Laval Company will give $25 to the owner of the oldest De Laval Separator, still in use, in each state of the United States and each province of Canada. Rules of this contest are very simple. Just—

1. Write to the nearest De Laval Office;
2. State time of purchase and length of service;
3. Give serial number and size of machine;
4. A statement in regard to the service received from it.

On the basis of this data the user of the oldest De Laval in each state will be determined and winners will be announced in due course.

GUEST OF HONOR AT CHARMING AFFAIR

Miss Emma Davidson, whose marriage to Mr. W. J. Cherry will take place November 14, was the guest of honor at a charmingly appointed affair given Saturday afternoon by Misses Hazel Flagg and Lillian Dixon at the home of Miss Flagg on North Galloway Street.

Feathery yellow chrysanthemums formed the decorations about the rooms. During the afternoon a musical contest in which Scotch Irish and American songs were used furnished diversion. The prize, a song "The Spirit Flower" by Campbell Tipton, was won by Mrs. James Adair. Following the contest the guests spent the remainder of the afternoon hemming gay hued dust cloths which were in all the rainbow colors and in embroidery in outline stitch the various kinds of farm animals that had been stamped in the corners of the cloths. The cloths were then presented to the bride elect for use in her farm home. While guests were busy with their needles several delightful songs were given by Mrs.

Vote for Judge Ferneding

ENDORSEMENTS BY MEMBERS OF THE BAR AND OTHER CITIZENS

In each county there are courts of justices of the peace, probate courts and common pleas courts. The Court of Appeals which holds court in the counties of Greene, Champaign, Darke, Clarke, Montgomery, Shelby, Miami, Franklin, Fayette Madison and Preble is a court to which cases decided in these three lower courts may be taken for review or reversal, and is a court of last resort in nearly all litigated cases. That it is therefore necessary for experienced and well qualified men to be its judges is apparent to all. Judge Ferneding is the only one of the three judges on this Court of Appeals who is a candidate for re-election this year, and he has in his previous experience given competent, efficient, and satisfactory service to the people of the above district.

This office is a non-partisan—in other words the candidates' names appear on a separate non-partisan ballot, and one judge of the court is elected every two years. The undersigned committee is composed of Democrats and Republicans alike, and all join in the hope that the court may be retained in its present membership by the re-election of Judge Ferneding whose integrity, competence, ability and tried efficiency recommend him to all as qualified for this office, and we do not think experiments should be resorted to for any partisan reason.

We know a large part, probably eighty percent, of the lawyers all over the district will vote for Judge Ferneding because they know his qualifications and ability as a judge. His opponent is now and has been court stenographer in Dayton, and has had very little experience as a lawyer and none as a judge. While we do not in any way wish to reflect upon him, we consider his experience not much as to fit him for preferment to this office so important to the people.

We therefore earnestly request our fellow citizens to give a little time toward electing Judge Ferneding to the Court of Appeals on November 7th, for the reasons above named. The office is non-partisan and his name appears on the Non-Partisan Judicial Ticket.

BABB MEANS BEST $25 to the Owner of the Oldest DeLaval in Each State

To assist in determining the exact length of service which De Laval Cream Separators are capable of giving, the De Laval Company will give $25 to the owner of the oldest De Laval Separator, still in use, in each state of the United States and each province of Canada. Rules of this contest are very simple. Just—

1. Write to the nearest De Laval Office;
2. State time of purchase and length of service;
3. Give serial number and size of machine;
4. A statement in regard to the service received from it.

On the basis of this data the user of the oldest De Laval in each state will be determined and winners will be announced in due course.

LOCAL CHURCHES TAKE UP PROBLEMS AT MEETING NOV. 19

Names of prominent churchmen who will address the county interdenominational conference of church people at the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Xenia, Sunday, Nov. 19, were announced today following a meeting of county representatives from all parts of the state at Columbus where arrangements for these meetings, to be held in 81 counties in November, were worked out in conference with officers of the Ohio Council of Churches.

The speakers scheduled for this county are: Rev. John Sommerlatte of Cleveland, and Rev. W. J. Grimes of New Concord. Others will be announced later.

Local plans for the meeting are going forward under the direction of a committee consisting of the County Ministerial Association, Rev. L. L. Gray, Jamestown, president.

Subjects for discussion at the county conference will include "Religious Education," "Co-operative Evangelism," "The Church and Public Morals," and "Interdenominational Adjustments." The following is a statement with regard to the attitude of Ohio Protestant churches on these questions as evidenced by action taken by the Ohio Council of Churches:

"In regard to religious education, the Ohio Council, at its recent annual meeting, went on record as favoring week-day religious instruction of children and daily vacation Bible schools. It also adopted a resolution seeking closer co-operation with the Ohio Sunday School Association.

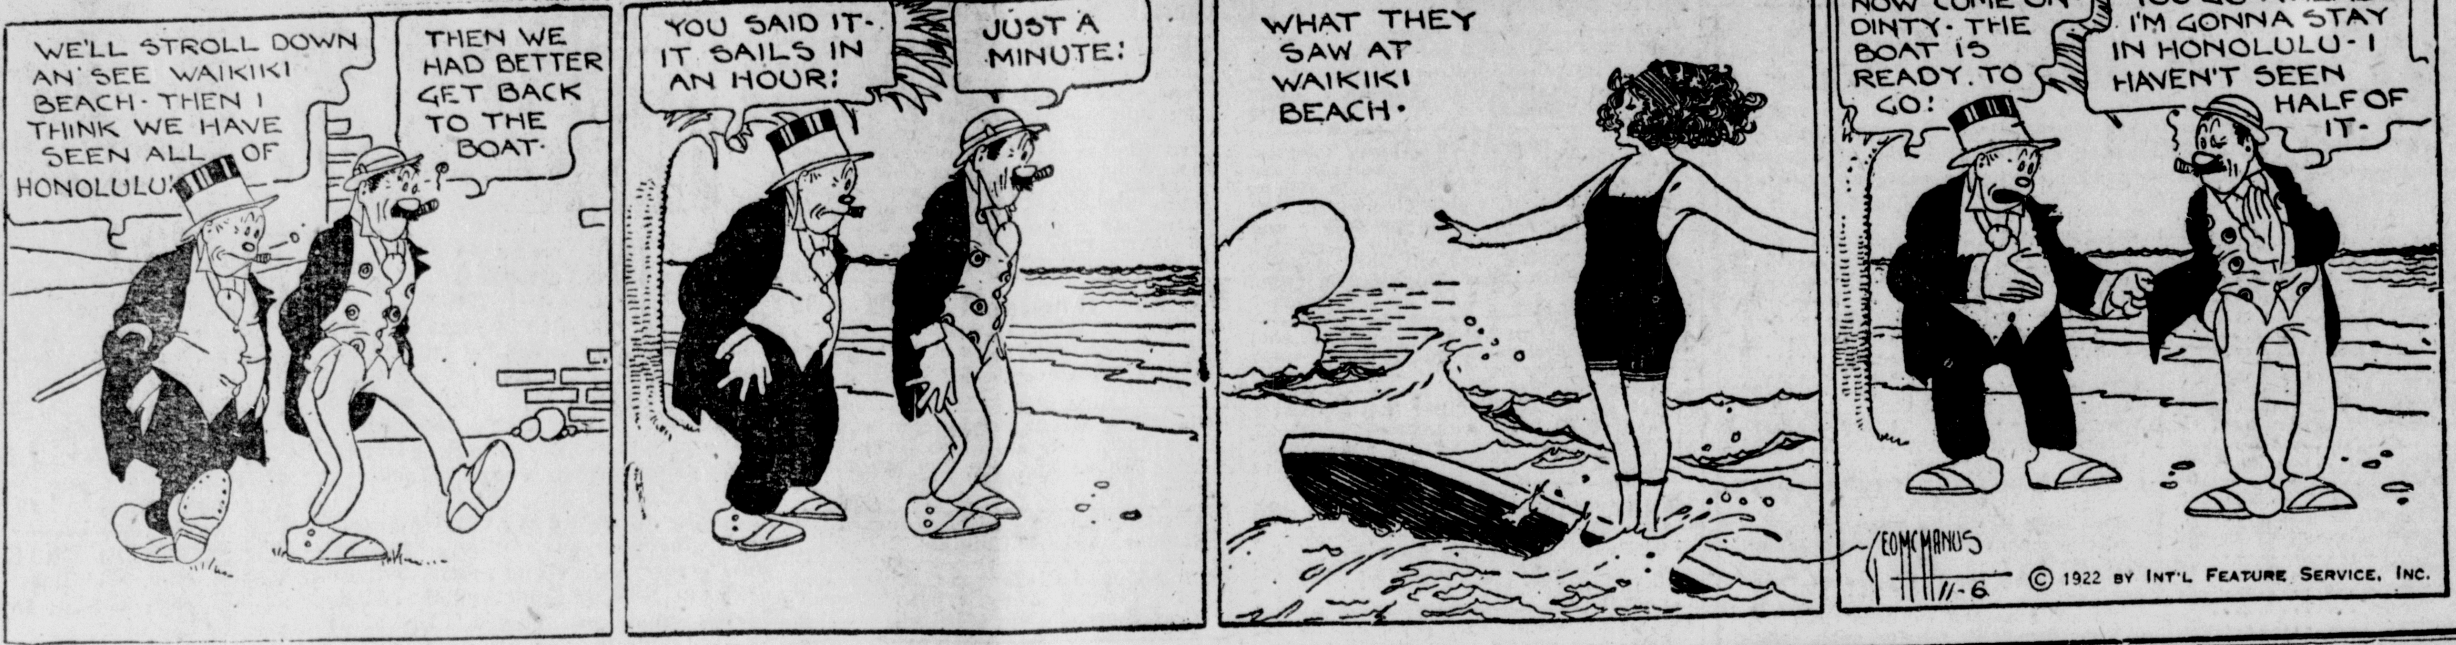

"As a basis of co-operative evangelism, the council and representative leaders of the various Protestant communions have endorsed a program of house-to-house religious censuses in all local communities. After making such a canvass and learning where the non-churching individuals are located, the local churches can divide the names of such persons and carry on systematic personal work to win them to church membership. Successful ventures of this kind have been made in Delaware and Miami counties.

"The menace of bad moving pictures to the public morals has been met squarely by the Council of Churches, which has voted full co-operation with the state censors in suppressing unclean films and in arousing public sentiment to a demand for high-class pictures. A law enforcement committee has been created to focus the influence of the churches on the question of regard for law. Co-operation has been voted to the World Alliance for International Friendship and the Lord's Day Alliance.

"By interdenominational adjustments is meant the harmonious meeting of situations of 'over-churching' and 'under-churching' by the withdrawal of superfluous churches in one community and the extension of adequate church facilities to another not so provided. A definite set of principles in this regard has been adopted by the Council and the denominational leaders, which if carried out will reduce both the costly competition between denominations, both of which conditions have been proved by the recent state church survey to exist in many parts of the state."

SERVING UNCOOKED ORANGE AND GRAPEFRUIT

Today I am going to outline some rules for serving oranges and grapefruit on the home table. I am sure that my old-housekeeper readers already know these rules; but, for the sake of the inexperienced housekeeper, I am going to set them forth:

All Domestic Science schools today instruct their pupils in certain little "niceties" regarding the appearance of served uncooked oranges and grapefruit. The chefs of large hotels also employ these methods of preparing the fruit.

Breakfast Orange: Cut the orange in half, crosswise. One half is used per person. Shave a thin slice off the bottom of this half-orange, so that it will not rock when set on a plate. Upraise the seeds and core as follows: Take a pair of ordinary scissors (clean, of course) and snip each white intersecting membrane near the core, or heart; by this I mean stick the sharp points of the scissors deep into the orange as you eat each thin membrane section.

When you have gone all around the fruit in this way, clipping the sections, you will find that you can pull out the core with the seeds clinging to it. The half orange then has a hole in its center, which may be filled with sugar if desired—or with a maraschino cherry for a guest meal. Run a sharp, thin knife blade completely around the edge of the half orange between the inside of the skin and the pulp (this loosens the pulp so that it may be easily removed when eaten.) Chill and serve. Grapefruit is prepared in the same manner. For a guest breakfast, an orange prepared in this way looks best set in one of the long-stemmed glasses which flare sufficiently at the top to allow a bed of cracked ice to be placed under the fruit.

Curled Orange: Wash and wipe the outer skin of the orange. Take a sharp knife and cut the skin, lengthwise, in "petals" (that is, into narrow strips) each petal beginning at the "blossom" end and going to within one-half inch of the stem end. Loosen these skin petals with your fingers, tearing them off the fruit, then curl each one under, toward the orange. You now have an orange which resembles a flower. The work is finished when you have scraped the superfluous white part from the fruit, (without breaking into the pulp-sections.)

Picnic Orange: As this is hard to explain, I will tell you what the fruit looks like when the work is done: It is just a long strip of rind one half inch wide with all of the unbroken sections clinging to it. When this strip is rolled up it makes a round orange with a yellow band of rind around it. To achieve this result, cut away all the orange skin except a half-inch band of it running right around the middle of the orange. Then separate the pulp sections without breaking them, and make a cut through the yellow band in one place. Remove white membrane core. This is an excellent way to serve an orange to a sick child or invalid—as well as a convenient way of preparing it for a picnic.

GRACE HARTER LEARNS OF THE ACCIDENT

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters. Doreen is the wife of Walter Page, an artist. The latter is gradually becoming infatuated with one of his models, Helen Ralstrom of the "blonde vamp" type. He purchases a runabout, selected by Helen, who accompanies him riding more often than does his wife. One night while Page's mother is paying him and Doreen a visit, Walter carries Miss Ralstrom into his own home at midnight, the victim of a motor accident. The elder Mrs. Page insists on caring for the injured lady and the following morning sends her home in an ambulance. This attitude wins Doreen over to her mother-in-law who heretofore had considered her cold and proud, difficult to get along with.

CHAPTER 19

"What's this I hear about Walter and Helen Ralstrom having an accident?" Grace Harter asked me. She had run in to ask me to go shopping with her, and as we drove to the store she took the opportunity to gratify her curiosity. "I couldn't ask ask before his mother," she went on, "but I'm just dying to know what happened."

"Walter somehow drove into a tree. He was going slowly so he wasn't hurt."

Helen was thrown out and sprained her ankle. Who told you about it?"

I asked. "George. He said it was in the paper but did not give the woman's name. He had seen them start out from the studio, so of course we knew it was Helen with him, not you."

Fortunately she asked no more questions, taking it for granted, I suppose, that Helen had been taken home at once. But she said: "It's a good thing! A sprained ankle will keep her away from the studio for a time."

"Yes," I replied "but it will also delay Walter's picture. He is anxious to finish it."

"If I were in your place I should wish he never finished it—not with her as a model. Honestly, Doreen, I think sometimes you are blind as a bat! That girl will make you trouble if you don't watch out. She's as unscrupulous as the devil."

"Perhaps—although I'm not so sure. But I am sure of Walter, so why imagine trouble from her?" I spoke lightly. Grace should not know I was wildly jealous of Helen, that Walter's evident anxiety over her, his sulen anger because of what his mother had done—anger he did not dare give expression to—had made me think he cared for her more than I thought.

To my relief we just then reached the shop and she said nothing more of either the accident or Helen. But I was to hear more from others! Grace left me at one counter while she visited another and I heard my name spoken by a woman near. She said to her companion:

"That's Mrs. Page, the artist's wife. The paper said he had an accident with his car a day or two ago. That there was a woman with him. I wonder if it was Mrs. Page. She evidently wasn't hurt if it was she."

"No telling who it was," her companion replied. "He's rather fond of our sex I've always heard. He had a pretty serious affair with Grace Harter a few years ago, before either of them married. There comes Mrs. Harter now. She's with Mrs. Page too. Strange they should be friends."

"Probably she knows nothing about it, a wife is the last one who hears about her husband's peccadilloes."

"Ready, Doreen?" Grace's voice interrupted.

"As soon as my change comes," I replied. Then I asked: "Who are those women?"

"The one nearest you is a Mrs. Townsend. The other I don't know why?"

"Oh, nothing, only they seemed to know you. I heard her say 'there comes Mrs. Harter and was curious.'"

"Mrs. Townsend is an awful gossip," Grace replied in a low voice as she bowed to her, "she'd take away a Saint's reputation."

We left the counter the eyes of the two women following us. I gave no thought to what they had said of the accident, but wondered just how much reason I had not to be friendly with Grace. Sometimes I disliked her, then again she would say or do some thing that made me more than reverse my opinion. She had frankly told me she nearly married Walter.

And sometimes I thought she still cared for him, that she too—in spite of being married to George Harter—was jealous of Helen Ralstrom, that she resented Walter's attentions to her, not on my account but on her own.

She insisted I lunch with her at Delmonico's. I refused at first pleading that Mrs. Page would be alone.

"That's just why you must come with me. She'll have plenty of time to sit on you. I don't see how you keep so good natured."

"I rather like her now," I replied "in some ways she is wonderful." And although I went to lunch with Grace I refused to let her postpaise Walter mother. Her kindness was too fresh in my mind.

Like Knights of Old

Ye olde knights used to fight to protect the fair fame of the devices emblazoned on their shields. And the knight without escutcheon was looked upon askance. He had no name to protect. He could live fairly or unfairly, as his whims directed.

Modern knights of industry have devices—the advertised trade-marks of their products. They must safeguard the reputation of these trade-marks to keep them worth while.

Advertising throws a powerful light on a trade-mark. If it proves worthy, it gains popularity and confidence. If it is shown to be unworthy, it quickly fails.

So you can be sure that every consistently advertised product is good. The advertising test has proved it. The name of its maker stands behind it. The trade-mark is your warranty of satisfaction and true quality.

A Prince Among Thinkers A Saint Among Men

Jonathan Edwards' education made him a prince among thinkers, and a saint among men. His grandson, Aaron Burr, received better scholastic training, but because he neglected the accompanying moral culture, his education merely increased his capacity for evil and made him a curse to the nation.

For eighty years, Ohio Wesleyan has taught straight thinking and straight living to 30,000 young men and women. These Christian characters have made the name of America blessed through the message of human sympathy they bore and the lives of service they lived.

An investment in Ohio Wesleyan University is an investment for scholarship, for truth, for broad culture, for human progress, for world betterment, for the Kingdom of God in America and to the ends of the earth.

All Domestic Science schools today instruct their pupils in certain little "tricks" regarding the appearance of served uncooked oranges and grapefruit. The chefs of large hotels also employ these methods of preparing the fruit.

Breakfast Orange: Cut the orange in half, crosswise. One half is used per person. Shave a thin slice off the bottom of this half-orange, so that it will not rock when set on a plate. Now take out the seeds and core as follows: Take a pair of ordinary scissors (clean, of course) and snip each white intersecting membrane near the core, or heart; by this I mean stick the sharp points of the scissors deep into the orange as you eat each thin membrane section.

When you have gone all around the fruit in this way, clip the sections, you will find that you can pull out the core with the seeds clinging to it. The half orange then has a hole in its center, which may be filled with sugar if desired—or with a maraschino cherry for a guest meal. Run a sharp, thin knife blade completely around the edge of the half orange between the inside of the skin and the pulp (this loosens the pulp so that it may be easily removed when eaten.) Chill and serve. Grapefruit is prepared in the same manner. For a guest breakfast, an orange prepared in this way looks best set in one of the long-stemmed glasses which flare sufficiently at the top to allow a bed of cracked ice to be placed under the fruit.

Curled Orange: Wash and wipe the outer skin of the orange. Take a sharp knife and cut the skin, lengthwise, in "petals" (that is, into narrow strips), each petal beginning at the "blossom" end and going to within one-half inch of the stem end. Loosen these skin petals with your tearing them off the fruit, then curl each one under, toward the orange. You now have an orange which resembles a flower. The work is finished when you have scraped the superfluous white part from the fruit, (without breaking into the pulp-sections.)

Picnic Orange: As this is hard to explain, I will tell you what the fruit looks like when the work is done. It is just a long strip of rind one half inch wide with all of the unbroken sections clinging to it. When this strip is rolled up it makes a round orange with a yellow band of rind around it. To achieve this result, cut away all the orange skin except a half-inch band of it running right around the middle of the orange. Then separate the pulp sections without breaking them, and make a cut through the yellow band in one place. Remove white membrane core. This is an excellent way to serve an orange to a sick child or invalid—as well as a convenient way of preparing it for a picnic.

GRACE HARTER LEARNS OF THE ACCIDENT

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

Doreen is the wife of Walter Page, an artist. The latter is gradually becoming infatuated with one of his models, Helen Ralstrom of the "blonde vamp" type. He purchases a runabout, selected by Helen, who accompanies him riding more often than does his wife. One night while Page's mother is paying him and Doreen a visit, Walter carries Miss Ralstrom into his own home at midnight, the victim of a motor accident. The elder Mrs. Page insists on caring for the injured lady and the following morning sends her home in an ambulance. This attitude wins Doreen over to her mother-in-law who heretofore had considered her cold and proud, difficult to get along with.

CHAPTER 19

"What's this I hear about Walter and Helen Ralstrom having an accident?" Grace Harter asked me. She had run in to ask me to go shopping with her, and as we drove to the store she took the opportunity to gratify her curiosity. "I couldn't ask ask before her mother," she went on, "but I'm just dying to know what happened."

"Walter somehow drove into a tree. He was going slowly so he wasn't hurt. Helen was thrown out and sprained her ankle. Who told you about it?" I asked.

"George. He said it was in the paper but did not give the woman's name. He had seen them start out from the studio, so of course we knew it was Helen with him, not you."

Fortunately she asked no more questions, taking it for granted, I suppose, that Helen had been taken home at once. But she said: "It's a good thing! A sprained ankle will keep her away from the studio for a time."

"Yes," I replied "but it will also delay Walter's picture. He is anxious to finish it."

"If I were in your place I should wish he never finished it—not with her as a model. Honestly, Doreen, I think sometimes you are blind as a bat! That girl will make you trouble if you don't watch out. She's as unscrupulous as the devil."

"Perhaps—although I'm not so sure. But I am sure of Walter, so why imagine trouble from her?" I spoke lightly. Grace should not know I was wildly jealous of Helen, that Walter's evident anxiety over her, his sulien anger because of what his mother had done—anger he did not dare give expression to—had made me think he cared for her more than I thought.

To my relief we just then reached the shop and she said nothing more of either the accident or Helen. But I was to hear more from others! Grace left me at one counter while she visited another and I heard my name spoken by a woman near. She said to her companion:

"That's Mrs. Page, the artist's wife. The paper said he had an accident with his car a day or two ago. That there was a woman with him. I wonder if it was Mrs. Page. She evidently wasn't hurt if it was she."

"No telling who it was," her companion replied. "He's rather fond of our sex I've always heard. He had a pretty serious affair with Grace Harter a few years ago, before either of them married. There comes Mrs. Harter now. She's with Mrs. Page too. Strange they should be friends."

"Probably she knows nothing about it, a wife is the last one who hears about her husband's peccadilloes."

"Ready, Doreen?" Grace's voice interrupted.

"As soon as my change comes," I replied. Then I asked: "Who are those women?"

"The one nearest you is a Mrs. Townsend. The other I don't know why?"

"Oh, nothing, only they seemed to know you. I heard her say 'there comes Mrs. Harter and was curious.' Mrs. Townsend is an awful gossip. She bowed to her, 'she'd take away a Saint's reputation.'"

We left the counter the eyes of the two women following us. I gave no thought to what they had said of the accident, but wondered just how much reason I had not to be friendly with Grace. Sometimes I disliked her, then again she would say or do some thing that made me more than reverse my opinion. She had frankly told me she nearly married Walter. And sometimes I thought she still cared for him, that she too—in spite of being married to George Harter—was jealous of Helen Ralstrom, that she resented Walter's attentions to her, not on my account but on her own.

She insisted I lunch with her at Delmonico's. I refused at first pleading that Mrs. Page would be alone. "That's just why you must come with me. She'll have plenty of time to sit on you. I don't see how you keep so good natured."

"I rather like her now," I replied "in some ways she is wonderful." And although I went to lunch with Grace I refused to let her postprandial mother. Her kindness was too fresh in my mind.

Like Knights of Old

YE olde knights used to fight to protect the fair fame of the devices emblazoned on their shields. And the knight without escutcheon was looked upon askance. He had no name to protect. He could live fairly or unfairly, as his whims directed.

Modern knights of industry have devices—the advertised trade-marks of their products. They must safeguard the reputation of these trade-marks to keep them worth while.

Advertising throws a powerful light on a trade-mark. If it proves worthy, it gains popularity and confidence. If it is shown to be unworthy, it quickly fails.

So you can be sure that every consistently advertised product is good. The advertising test has proved it. The name of its maker stands behind it. The trade-mark is your warranty of satisfaction and true quality.

A Prince Among Thinkers A Saint Among Men

Jonathan Edwards' education made him a prince among thinkers, and a saint among men. His grandson, Aaron Burr, received better scholastic training, but because he neglected the accompanying moral culture, his education merely increased his capacity for evil and made him a curse to the nation.

For eighty years, Ohio Wesleyan has taught straight thinking and straight living to 30,000 young men and women. These Christian characters have made the name of America blessed through the message of human sympathy they bore and the lives of service they lived.

An investment in Ohio Wesleyan University is an investment for scholarship, for truth, for broad culture, for human progress, for world betterment, for the Kingdom of God in America and to the ends of the earth.
